

P.C.'s Score Sweeping Victories In All District Constituencies

Smith Has 6,000 Majority
In Hastings-Frontenac—Grills
Has Over 8,000 Majority

Keeping in step with the general trend across Canada Progressive Conservative candidates in this area scored overwhelming victories in Monday's election.

In Hastings-Frontenac Hon. Sidney Smith, Minister of External Affairs, won his second victory in a matter of months — a smashing victory that saw him poll 13,535 votes in the 165 polls to report to N. L. B. Coburn up to noon on Wednesday.

Trailing were Wm. Shannon with 5,363 votes and Social Credit standard bearer Cecil Jenkins with 557. The Liberal and Social Credit candidates lost their deposits.

The former president of the University of Toronto and the man who stepped into now Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson's shoes as Minister of External Affairs, swept to victory in all but six of the first 127 polls to report.

"Smith Surprised"

After his election, Mr. Smith declared he was surprised at the complete trend across Canada. He was especially startled by the result in Quebec and said "It speaks well for Canada that both parties should have a fight for Quebec seats."

He commented that being an "outsider" in the riding had its disadvantages and he had only returned to it a week ago after four weeks on the road, campaigning across the country. But the vote in the riding, he said, speaks for itself.

Liberal candidate William Shannon, of Marmora, conceding victory to Mr. Smith, declared he and other Liberals in the riding are now behind Mr. Smith and behind the new government.

It was a clean campaign in Hastings-Frontenac, he said, and he considered that, in view of the result across Canada, he was not disheartened by the voting in his own riding.

The result by polls in Stirling and Rawdon were as follows:

	Jenkins	Shannon	Smith
Stirling West	1	24	165
Stirling East	4	39	161
Rawdon Township	5	63	326
Ridge Road	3	19	131
Mount Pleasant	1	37	130
Minto	1	24	101
Wellman's	3	34	111
Springbrook	4	29	175
Bonarlaw	2	17	143
	14	160	791

Grills Victor

In Hastings South

In Hastings South Lee Grills scored an overwhelming victory over his Liberal and C.C.F. opponents, with a majority of over 8,000 votes over Dr. D. McVicker, of Deseronto, Liberal, Howard Weese, the C.C.F. candidate only got 1,007 votes. The final figures available Wednesday showed Grills, Progressive Conservative, with 17,218 votes, and Dr. McVicker, Liberal, 9,160.

The Liberal candidate won but 13 of the riding's 163 polling divisions, five of these being at Trenton, RCAF Station.

In Belleville Grills won the largest majority ever accorded a political candidate in that city, 3,368 votes. In Stirling Grills polled 155, McVicker 50 and Weese 6. In Sidney he had a majority of 1,160; Thurlow, 1,369; Tyendinaga, 181; Deseronto, 166; Tweed 171; Hungerford, 266 and Trenton 1,123.

Liberal Majority At Air Station

At the Trenton Air Station McVicker scored his heaviest against Grills, having 425 votes to the latter's 266.

Milligan Winner

Clarence Milligan, of Napanee, carrying the Progressive Conservative banner, swept to an easy victory over H. Fred Norman, Liberal.

Northumberland remained true to the Conservative Ben Thompson, of Brighton, winning over J. Sweet, of Campbellford, by nearly 6,000 majority.

This being Centennial Year in Stirling every encouragement should be given citizens in beautifying their home surroundings.

Members of Council were sympathetic to the appeal from the visiting delegation and dog owners will be asked to keep their dogs tied from May 1st to October 1st. Failure of citizens to comply with the provisions of the bylaw will result in the canines being impounded and charges laid.

Foster Wannamaker, Road Superintendent, stated he needed some new stop signs while a new culvert was needed under the driveway at the Post Office on Charlotte St.

An inspection of the streets will be made by Councillors on Saturday next and a decision reached on what is needed in the way of signs and culverts.

E. Sandercock, M.P.P. Hastings West Speaks In Legislature

The following is a copy of the address given by Mr. W. E. Sandercock, M.P.P. for Hastings West at the Legislative Assembly last week:

Mr. Speaker:

In speaking on the Budget Debate, I would like to compliment the Government on the assistance the municipalities are receiving. Year after year, these grants are increased by tremendous amounts of money thus relieving the property owner of taxes that would be staggering.

With the very generous grants that have been made to schools in the Riding which I have the honour to represent, new schools have been built from one end to the other of the riding, which is well over 100 miles long. These schools are modern in every way; buses transport students to and from classes morning and night, winter and summer; and there is not a schoolroom lacking a teacher. This system provides opportunity for all to obtain an education if he or she so desires.

We in our part of Ontario appreciate the large sums of money that have been spent on Highways and Development Roads. We expect the No. 401 Belleville-Trenton by-pass will be opened this year, which will relieve the ever-increasing traffic problems of these two cities. The Municipal Council of Trenton is greatly worried about the condition of the bridge over the Trent River in the centre of the town. This bridge is in need of extensive repairs and was never constructed to carry present-day traffic of the No. 2 Highway.

The City of Belleville is faced with a large expenditure on city streets, as the heavy truck traffic continues to break up the pavement. A great deal of patching has been done, but the time has come when a complete resurfacing is required. We are looking to the Government to pay a substantial share of this work.

The people of our Riding are very grateful for the money received for Development Roads. The County — with a long mileage of county roads that have to be maintained to a good standard, winter and summer — finds it impossible to do as much construction of new roads as it would like, due to a limited budget. The same problem applies to the Township, but a few thousand dollars of development money spent on cutting of dangerous corners, straightening odd sharp curves, and repairing some bridges would change the whole appearance of the road and make it a much safer one to travel, without costing a large sum.

While on the subject of Highways, we realize that everything possible is being done by this branch of the Government for the safety of those using our roads. Signs of every description, guardrails, lights of all kinds, highway crews patrolling night and day, snow plowing, salting, sanding, bulletins, radio warning of road conditions, and many other safety measures have been adopted by the Department to try to cut down accidents. With all the safety precautions conceivable, the accidents still occurring on our highways are alarming, to say the least. So many times we are stricken with grief to read in the paper, or hear on the radio, that some of our friends, relatives or neighbours, have been killed in a car accident. The Riding that I represent has been thrown into a state of sadness many times when one or more of its promising young citizens have been killed on the Highway. No one seems to have the answer. It would appear almost beyond human power to control.

As the Riding of West Hastings is over 100 miles long, many types of industries and occupations are carried on. The northern part of the riding is a tourist paradise which, with its many beautiful lakes and streams, has attracted people who have spent large sums of money on cottages and equipment. Lumbering and pulp still is a very important business. One of the greatest assets to this part of the riding was the discovery of uranium by one of our local citizens. The uranium mines have been developed and huge, modern processing plants built, which give employment to hundreds of men. The Faraday Uranium Mines Limited have been very community-conscious and have built a number of beautiful homes for their staff near the mine and a large section of very modern homes for their employees in the Village of Bancroft, where a new modern curling rink also has just been completed. The whole community is most grateful to the executive of these mines for their public-spirited attitude.

The Village of Marmora on No. 7 Highway was very fortunate in that a few years ago a large iron ore deposit was discovered in that locality. The mine has now been developed, and is known as the Marmoraton Mining Co. Limited. This is an open pit mine, the ore being processed to a higher grade and shipped in pellet form by train to their storage docks at Picton, where it is shipped farther by boat. The project cost many, many millions of dollars and has been a great boon to the community. The officers and employees of this mine take a very active part in the community life of the district by helping any worthwhile project.

The three southern Townships of Hastings West Riding consist of good farm land, used for mixed farming, and known for its high-grade cheese and canning products, as well as being a great livestock producing area. Stirling, a beautiful village 15 miles north of Belleville, situated in one of the most fertile valleys of this Province, is celebrating its Centennial on August 3rd to 6th of this year. Its citizens are very progressive, and are making great preparations for an outstanding event to which everyone will be made welcome.

The Cities of Belleville and Trenton are located on the Bay of Quinte, with many industries providing employment for their citizens. These two large centres have steadily expanded, year after year, until they are now surrounded by new housing developments.

We are most fortunate in having some very scenic spots in this Riding. One of the most outstanding is the Trent River which starts at the Village of Hastings and winds its way through the Trent Valley finally flowing out through the centre of the Town of Trenton into the Bay of Quinte, and on to Lake Ontario. This is a navigable river, where scores of pleasure boats travel from Trenton to Georgian Bay. Leaving Trenton, and travelling north a distance of only seven miles to the Village of Frankford on No. 23 Highway which closely follows the west side of the river, sometimes called the Iroquois Trail, you are in view of two Hydro generating plants, three railroad bridges, three road bridges including the monstrous No. 401 Highway bridge high above the Trent River, and six dams; where the white foaming waters tumble over. There are, in addition, six locks where boats are locked through. Also on this stretch of road is the Glen Miller Paper Mill, an old established business that has been a landmark for many years. Next, Batavia, the home of the Bata Shoes, with their huge modern factory towering skyward, surrounded by their community buildings and homes. In this factory the shoes are made for their 100 stores across Canada.

On the east side of the river, a country road follows the river quite closely back into the Town of Trenton. On the drive around this section of the river, many camping parks could be established. At this time Trenton and suburban planning board and local municipalities are negotiating with the different Departments of the Government for financial assistance necessary to develop this scenic section of the river into one of the most outstanding beauty spots and tourist attractions in that part of Ontario. I would like to congratulate the Planning Board for making a start. We are hopeful that the Government will see its way clear to help in carrying out this project to make it into a very fine park and camping centre, which will attract thousands of tourists and be a great benefit to the public.

Mr. Speaker: On behalf of the people of my Riding, I would most sincerely like to thank the Provincial Treasurer (The Premier) for the very generous financial assistance we have received, and also the Ministers of every Department of the Government for the co-operation we have received at all times.

Mr. Speaker: During the present Session, the different members on rising to take part in the Debates have expressed the great respect they have for the Prime Minister personally, and for his achievements, and also the warm regard they have for him. I of course share very fully in these sentiments. In addition, I should like to say that it is with the greatest pride I hear Mr. Frost's name mentioned in the same way by the people of my Riding, wherever I go. I would equally like to join in the sincere expressions of appreciation extended to the Speaker of the House for the impartiality with which he has conducted the affairs of this and past Sessions.

The Bible Today

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

The desire of some of the Indians of Bolivia for the Scriptures is illustrated by a story which curiously resembles the traditional account of interview of Mary Jones with Rev. Thomas Charles.

A missionary colporteur writes: "After I had completely sold out of all the Quechua Gospels I had along, an intelligent Indian came and begged me to sell him a Quechua New Testament. I explained to him that I had none left, but he replied, 'Sell me your own.' I told him that it contained many of my notes and markings, and that I needed it to use in preaching. He was anxious to get off home, and begged me again to sell it. Replying that I still needed it to preach at least once more, he said, 'very well; I shall wait until you have preached, and then you must sell it.' So finally I yielded and let him have it. I hated to give up my own copy, with those notes I needed, but I felt that a book so earnestly desired would surely be read and studied."

In Bolivia with its preponderant Indian population, complete New Testaments in both the main Indian languages — Quechua and Aymara are available through the Bible Society.

A Traveller's Note Book

Oklahoma Weather — "Oh what a beautiful day." Fortunately, we deserve it since we have not grumbled about our winter weather. Those who have been shut-in may now look forward to getting out into the sun; the rest of us will start planning the garden and also for the good life at the lake. What more could one possibly want?

Parks and gardens are to have special attention this Centennial year. In a country blessed with a long summer and plenty of good weather, we should really "Go to town." I hope we may, I also hope we will look upon our endeavours as a sort of thanksgiving to the Almighty for all the good things of life. Let's begin to plan.

I noticed some time ago a pathetic little garden which some loving soul had planted in a cemetery, a child lay there, and of the life of the garden was brought right near to the grave. "In the place where He was crucified, there was a garden."

More About Driving

A few days ago a large envelope arrived from the Ministry of Highway Department, its subject: "Transportation" and its problems. It was a long communication pleading for help. "We must stop this Highway Murder." So we are asked to help by educating the people. Also, we are asked to make regular mention from the pulpit, etc. I read some of it and then took my blue pencil and scrawled across the top of the first page: WHY NOT TRY LAW ENFORCEMENT?

We also threw in a few suggestions such as "Have some really arresting notices at the entrance to every Village, Town or City. At each entrance you might start with:

And I'm still alive!

A Cloth of Gold

Such would be a splendid way to "The Summit." In an age when communications were hazardous, men were forced to be reasonable. Governmental tip-tips were often lost, delayed or too slow to be any good. Therefore, a person to person, or person with person meeting sometimes had to be arranged. There was the eternal glory of the meeting of Henry Eighth with Francis I at the "Field of the Cloth of Gold." Then also the meeting of Napoleon with the Tsar on a raft on the river Niemen. Such action is a good deal more impressive than a Dulles trotting around and handing out sermon material to all whom he meets. Nothing could strengthen the cause of peace like a face meeting of the heads of the three more responsible powers.

PHAROS

It requires about 40 years for a balsam forest to reach merchantable size.

What Others Say I

DESIGNED WITH A HUMP

(Brandon Sun)

Automobile makers are reported concerned over the hump in the middle of automobile floor boards. It seems to be getting higher all the time.

It doesn't matter how long or wide you build 'em, there's the hump, irremovable. And the lower you build the car the higher the hump becomes.

You can have too many ideas about design, as becomes evident when designers turn out cars mainly with an eye on how they will look in the advertisements says The Christian Science Monitor.

Also, as we remember from pre-auto days, there was once a horse ("horse: a large, solid-hoofed, herbivorous mammal" — Webster) which thought it had been too simply designed. As the fable tells us, it asked to be remade according to its own specifications. When it next saw itself in the mirror of a pond it was a camel, hump and all. There was a time when there was no hump in a car floor board and no need to drive the car up a hill to get a lofty view — you got it from the back seat.

Brownie Notes

Those who gave Christmas cards (used ones) to the Brownies will be interested in the fact that we sent 122 pounds of cards to England to the Disabled Ex-Servicemen's Hospital. There were over 11,000 cards sent and we received the following letter from one of the patients:

"Dear Mrs. Faires:

"I believe one of our printed acknowledgements has already been sent to you, but I felt I should like to write to you personally to say how very grateful I am to you for the magnificent collection of cards you have so kindly sent to us. I assure you these will be of very great benefit to us in our work, and my disabled pals and I want you to know how deeply we appreciate the trouble you have taken in helping in this way.

"As requested, I am enclosing one of our re-made cards, so you will have an idea what we do with them.

"Thank you again for being such a wonderful help to us, and I hope we may look forward to receiving your used Christmas and birthday cards again next year.

"All good wishes to you and your Brownie Pack. God bless you all."

Your very gratefully,

Guy Maloney

The re-made Christmas card is in Duffin's store window if anyone wishes to see it.

SUNDAY DRIVER

I confess to being one of those dawdling Sunday drivers you get there in a hurry motorist cuss about. If you see a station wagon loaded with kids poking along the highway on a Sunday afternoon, don't cuss at us too hard. We'll be off the highway and onto a side road as soon as a good one appears; meanwhile, even from the highway, the countryside is good to look at and we're gawkers from away back.

We don't plan our drives in detail, just the general direction. We start out early in the afternoon, knowing that we'll wind up in some small town for a meal about six o'clock, and a leisurely drive back home just in time for the twins to get to bed by nine. That small-town meal appeals to them, even when the cooking isn't perfect. It's the adventure that pleases them; and my wife enjoys almost any meal when she's free of the dishes afterwards.

We've often tried to figure out why we are such a gypsy-like family when week-ends roll around. On the humdrum week days we are stay-at-homes, even our teenagers. But the itch for motoring starts Friday and by Sunday afternoon we're eager to be off.

We take it easy. The kids like to pull up beside the road, toss gravel stones at poplar trees, or snap some pictures of anything that happens to be handy. We watch for birds or rabbits, tell stories, crack jokes, and sometimes climb a farmer's fence to look at cattle, sheep or horses. Dogs that have come raging down a road to chew our tires have been surprised to have us stop, doors fly open and a horde of youngsters rush at him. It is surprising how quickly the angry snarls and barks change to delighted tail-wagging.

Sometimes I find myself wondering, after one of these country excursions, about human values. Certainly my youthful plans for success didn't include Sunday afternoon dawdling over country roads, with a carload of athletic, noisy youngsters. Yet when I take stock of the really good things life has given me, those country jaunts are near the top. And I thank God I was lucky enough to be born in a free and prosperous country where a man of modest means can own a car and take his family for Sunday outings. We don't realize, sometimes, how fortunate we are.

standing position their legs are held in a scissors-like way. In their walk, their gait is stiff, clumsy and up on the toes.

But they can be trained. And at Woodedon, the Society's cerebral palsy training centre near London, the response has been miraculous to their highly specialized treatment.

At the treatment centre a team of physiotherapists, occupational therapists, speech therapists, nurses and doctors, have often "dragged" the very first word out of lips that never spoke before. They have taken the helpless and formerly though helplessness cerebral palsied child and taught him to ride a tricycle, feed and dress himself, or even walk. From this brief glance at cerebral palsy it is apparent the mothers and fathers of these children require professional guidance in accepting the role they must play in the life of their child. This was the very first fact which led the Society in its initial care of cerebral palsied youngsters... the bringing together of parents in the various communities. The realization of the benefit that can be derived from such meetings has resulted in the formation of the Ontario Federation for Cerebral Palsied.

All the work for the Ontario Society for Cerebral Palsied Children — whether it be cerebral palsy, camping, nursing, etc., is financed by the annual sale of Easter Seals.

Please contribute to the campaign now and until April 6th and help raise this year's minimum amount to carry on, $750,000.

United Empire Loyalist Assoc.

The Quinte Branch of the United Empire Loyalist Association met with the Lennox and Addington Historical Society on Wednesday in the Auditorium of the Memorial Building, Napanee. The room was filled to capacity with members from Hastings and Prince Edward Counties as well as local members.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. Bruce Alkenbrack, of Napanee. He chose as his topic, "Indian Relics of Southern Lennox and Addington," showing samples of axe heads and spear points and bits of pottery from his own collection. His keen interest in the craftsmanship of these pieces was an inspiration to his audience. It is from these fragments that the story of the living conditions and customs of a previous era is depicted. In this region many of us are familiar with these relics, but it is only as we take a real interest in them that they take on significance for us.

After the meeting many visited the Museum in the same building to see more of Mr. Alkenbrack's collection and many other interesting displays in this Lennox and Addington Museum.

During the business session of the U.E.L. Association, the nominating committee submitted a slate of officers to be voted on at the annual meeting in May. The chairman of the by-laws committee read the revised by-laws and there was a discussion on some of its items before they are presented to the May meeting.

A grant of $50.00 was made by the Branch to a special Museum Fund to be used for the purchase of worthy articles as they become available. The members are urged to help locate these articles and thus keep them available for our proposed U.E.L. Museum. There will be printed Loan Forms available for a Museum display so that the Branch may make a record of articles available. It is the desire of this Branch to list the articles which you may wish to contribute to a Museum when a suitable and permanent Museum may be established. This co-operation of all our members is solicited in this project.

So You Have A Child Handicapped By Cerebral Palsy

Then count the youngster lucky... lucky he lives in our time. For its only a few decades ago when we used to have "closet children" or boys and girls who because of some defect in figure or speech were hidden away from sight when visitors came.

Today we have no known instances of this practice in Ontario, and this is due largely to the influence and 35 years of hard work done by the Ontario Society for Cerebral Palsied Children — an organization backed by 220 Easter Seal service clubs, including the Rotary Club of Stirling and financed by the sale of Easter Seals.

Cerebral palsy is a condition in which control over muscles is impaired or lost due to brain lesions. These, doctors say, can occur during pregnancy, at birth or afterwards from a variety of causes. The incidence of cerebral palsy is estimated to be about one in five hundred and sixty-eight live births.

Consider then the problem confronting the parents of a spastic child. In the typical child there is drooling, poor speech (if any) and movements of the hands are slow and awkward. When supported in a Camp Fires and Smoking Materials — No person may drop or dispose of any cigarettes, pipe ashes or other smoking materials in the fire district without first making certain they are extinguished. Camp fires must be completely extinguished and made safe before leaving.

The Tweed Fire District where the above regulations apply is bounded on the south by the south boundary of the following Townships: Mar-Mora, Huntingdon, Hungerford, Sheffield, Hinchinbrooke and Bedford.

On the east by Oso, Palmerston, Lavant, Darling, Bagot and Adamston. The balance of the district to the north and west is in the Fire District.

THE FOOD BASKET

TWO NEW APPLE TREATS FOR COFFEE TIME

If you have been looking for something good to serve with morning or evening coffee, look no further for the Consumer Section has sent us two newly tested recipes for you. One, Applesauce Cinnamon Sandwich — is very quickly prepared as it's made from sliced bread and toasted in the waffle iron; the other, Apple Circles — starts with hot roll mix and ends in attractive, golden circles. Both snacks have a spicy, fresh apple flavour that blends perfectly with coffee... and milk, too!

Apple Circles

- 1 14-ounce package hot roll mix
- 3 medium apples
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon

Prepare hot roll mix according to directions given on package (or you can use your own recipe for roll dough). After dough has risen the first time, punch down, roll out on a lightly floured board into a circle 3 inch thick. Cut out rounds with a 2 1/2" biscuit cutter and set 2" apart on a lightly greased baking sheet. Pare, quarter and core apples, then cut into thin slices. Make a well in the center of each round by pressing 6 apple slices into dough, leaving a 1/4" ring around outside.

Mix sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle 1 teaspoon of mixture over apples. Cover and let rise in a warm place until dough is double in bulk — about 30 minutes. Bake in a hot oven (400 degs. F.) until "circles" are lightly browned — 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about 15 "circles."

Applesauce Circles

Applesauce may be used instead of sliced apples. Use 1 tablespoon of applesauce for each "circle."

Applesauce

Cinnamon Sandwich

- 2 slices bread
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 3 tablespoons applesauce

Butter the bread. Sprinkle one slice with brown sugar and cinnamon. Cover with other slice to make a sandwich. Toast in waffle iron, using same temperature as that used for waffles. Remove when waffle pattern shows a golden brown. Spread with applesauce and serve hot. Sandwich may be served whole or cut in halves, quarters or "fingers."

The next total eclipse of the sun will be Sunday, October 12th, 1958.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

WHAT'S NEW IN BARLEY

In general, 1957 was not a good year for barley production. Approximately 9.5 million acres were seeded to barley in 1957, one million more than in the previous year but, in spite of this increase in seeded acreage, the 1957 barley crop totalled only 220 million bushels, a reduction of 40 million bushels from the 1956 figure. Unfavourable weather conditions and the prevalence of diseases contributed greatly to this lower average yield per acre.

A report of the Board of Grain Commissioners indicates that the maturing quality of the 1957 crop, as determined on samples representing six-row grades, is equal to the average of the past 10 years even though kernel and bushel weights are lower than in 1956.

Many serious diseases are plaguing the barley crop in Canada. A few of the most troublesome are the smuts, rusts, mildew, root rots and number caused by leaf spotting organisms. During the past year barley workers in Canada, the United States and other countries have co-operated in an effort to locate more effective resistance to these diseases. An international barley test, co-ordinated by the United States Department of Agriculture, is conducted in 22 countries. Each entry in this test has proved to be resistant in limited tests, to one or more of the diseases attacking the barley crop. From these tests, detailed information is obtained in the resistance of varieties and selections to a broad range of disease organisms. Such information can be used in planning the development of varieties with resistance to numerous diseases, some of which are not yet established in Canada, but are a constant threat to our Canadian varieties.

Two new food varieties, Trall and Swan, were licensed for sale as seed in Canada during 1957. Parkland and Herta, varieties which were licensed in 1956, were grown widely in Canada in 1957. The relatively poor growing conditions experienced in a number of localities make it difficult to compare the performance of these varieties with other commercial varieties. However, data from test plots across Canada indicate that both varieties have performed well in many areas in 1957. For example, Parkland has replaced Montcalm, for malting purposes on the recommended list of varieties for Ontario. Herta, a feed barley, was recommended for growing in central and eastern Ontario.

Parkland has also made a creditable showing in its first appearance at seed fairs. The three top prizes in the Ottawa Valley region of the Ontario Barley Contest were won with Parkland entries. The problems involved in the production of superior barley varieties for Canada are numerous and varied. Specialists in Federal and Provincial Institutions and in the Universities are co-operating very closely in their researches on barley. Co-operation of this nature will greatly facilitate the production of superior varieties for Canada.

WARBLE FLY TREATMENT NECESSARY DURING APRIL

W. P. Watson, Ontario Live Stock Commissioner, said that farmers in 271 Townships will soon be taking appropriate measures to control warble fly, a pest which causes serious financial losses every year. Councils in each of these townships have at some time or other during the past ten years passed bylaws placing treatment on a compulsory basis.

The fly lays its eggs on the flanks of cattle during the spring and early summer months, the eggs hatching into tiny larvae which penetrate the hide. During the next nine or ten months they migrate through the bodies of their hosts, eventually becoming located along both sides of the backbone. By this time they have developed into grubs whose main objective is to escape. To do this they cut holes through the hide making it unsuitable for use as leather. After emerging the grubs hatch into flies and the life cycle commences over again.

The most vulnerable period in this insect's life occurs while it is in the flanks of the cattle. Hence treatment to be effective, must be applied at that time. A mixture of derris powder and water, applied either with a stiff bristled brush or as a spray, is used as treatment.

Two important changes in the regulations come into effect this year. First, it is no longer obligatory to treat cattle that are free from warble grubs. Nevertheless the treatment is effective in the control of lice. Such being the case farmers residing in townships where spraying service is available are urged to have their cattle sprayed, even though they may not be infected with grubs.

Secondly, the time for the first treatment has been delayed. This year it must be applied between the 10th and 13th of April, for the reason that a high percentage of the grubs are located in the backs of cattle at that time. If grubs continue to appear a second treatment must be applied 3 to 4 weeks later. Moreover cattle brought into a township in which a bylaw has been passed, during the period April 10th to May 31st, must be treated within 3 days of their arrival if they have warble grubs.

Mr. Watson states that a warble fly is capable of laying 500 to 600 eggs. Under the circumstances every grub must be destroyed if the pest is to be eradicated. The farmer who fails to fulfill his obligation in this regard is doing an injustice to his neighbour as well as to himself as neglect on his part could conceivably result in the neighbour's herd being infested.

VETERINARIAN OFFERS ADVICE ON LAMING TROUBLE IN SHEEP

On farms where sheep are raised, the spring lambing season is of considerable importance. One of the dangers is pregnancy disease of ewes, which can mean the difference between profit and loss. Dr. Howard Neely, Extension Officer, Ontario Veterinary College, says deficiencies in feed and exercise and upset body metabolism are the important causes of this disease which almost invariably affects only ewes carrying twins or triplets and is not contagious.

Symptoms include a tendency to eat very little and the ewe may grind her teeth, act depressed, walk in circles, and push against objects. Diagnosis by a veterinarian and prompt treatment can save both ewe and unborn lambs. All the hay she wants and at least half a pound of grain each day, in addition to adequate exercise, are advised to prevent pregnancy disease in ewes.

TOP-DRESSING YOUR WINTER RYE CROP

The most effective method of fertilizing the rye crop grown in rotation with flue-cured tobacco is the application of nitrogen, in a readily available form, early in the spring when growth commences. Experimental results, says E. C. Birch, Research Officer Canada Department of Agriculture, show that the application of 75 pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre will nearly double the grain yield and dry matter production of the rye if applied before the end of April.

The past history of the field with regard to rye growth and quality is one of the best guides to follow when applying nitrogen to the rye crop in the spring. If a field has previously grown an adequate rye crop and quality have been satisfactory maintained, no nitrogen is necessary in the spring, and in fact might be detrimental. Fields should not be top-dressed in the spring if they have recently been given moderate applications of manure, or if legumes have been grown on them in a previous rotation, or if they have been characterized by lodging of cereal crops.

An early spring examination of the crop will show what top-dressing is needed. A light crop will often stool better when top-dressed with nitrogen. A distinct light green or yellowish colour in areas of the field indicates a lack of available nitrogen.

Weather conditions have an important effect on the growth of the crop and the need for nitrogen fertilization. An open winter without adequate snow cover sometimes results in large amounts of undecomposed straw and roots from the previous crop. This trash may rob the rye crop of nitrogen in the spring due to its decomposition requirements. The use of ammonium nitrate in the spring also helps rye growth in cold, wet springs when nitrate production of the soil is very slow. If necessary, therefore, a cover crop of either rye or wheat should be top-dressed with an application of 75 pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre early in the spring when growth starts.

TO SEW OR NOT TO SEW

Not all women can learn to sew satisfactorily, any more than all men can learn how to build homes or repair cars.

But for those who enjoy sewing and get good results, it is a worthwhile activity, states Miss Dora Burke, Home Economics Service, Ontario Department of Agriculture. Surveys show that the competent sewer can save most on "afternoon" and "dress-up" type dresses, since there is a great difference in costs between ready-made and home-sewn dresses of this type. Fabric costs of ready-made garments are usually less than 15 per cent of the total price. Making home dresses is the least worthwhile because of the comparatively small difference between ready-made and made-at-home costs. The making of suits and coats requires great skill, considerable time, and good equipment.

Substantial savings result from making children's clothes, especially if materials are bought at sales, remnants used, or good used clothes made over. The value of the time required must be considered, but if the sewer is competent, working quickly and well, sewing clothes for children is quite worthwhile.

Slip covers, draperies, bed spreads and cushions are not too difficult to make at home, and there is a real saving on these items, since labor costs are generally very high in these lines.

Actually, home sewing is worthwhile for those who enjoy doing it and get good results. But anyone who thoroughly dislikes sewing should find a more profitable way to spend her leisure time, advises the Home Economics Service authority.

CONCENTRATED MILK INDUSTRY

Government Dairy Specialist D. B. Goodwillie, told the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers at their annual meeting in Hamilton recently, that there is little doubt what the price situation for concentrated milk products in Canada would be today if import controls were not in effect. World prices, he said, are just about half of those prevailing in Canada. Mr. Goodwillie is Head of the Merchandising Section of the Marketing Service, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

The concentrated milk industry is now well on its way towards the three-quarter billion pound production target. The big increase occurred in the by-products which were up 33 per cent, however, the whole milk products also showed a 5 per cent increase. With more milk expected to be produced this year plus increased facilities for processing this milk, Mr. Goodwillie said it is very likely that production will once again be at record levels.

According to latest information there will be at least fourteen new plants in Canada making powdered milk for human consumption in 1958. Three of these are spray and eleven roller. Five are in Ontario, one in Manitoba and eight in Quebec. In addition, some eleven plants have been installed, or are in the process of installing additional equipment with the view to handling larger quantities of milk than in former years.

With the exception of dry whole milk, Canada's exports have been decreasing each year and 1957 was no exception. Exports of evaporated milk and sweetened condensed milk were the lowest in over 30 years, Mr. Goodwillie said, and dry skim-milk the lowest since 1945. The chief reason for this, he pointed out, is that Canadian prices have been substantially above world levels.

Domestic usage of concentrated milk products in 1957 was at record levels. This is not surprising, Mr. Goodwillie said, when the higher production, heavy imports and lower exports are taken into consideration. However, he pointed out that the outlook for any substantial increase in domestic usage of all concentrated products in 1958 is not as bright as it has been in some of the other years. Nevertheless, there is no reason to believe that consumption will decline unless something unforeseen develops, he said.

A quarter of the income of all Canadians comes from the woodlands.

Lots of people have great aims in life, but never pull the trigger.

Champion Plowmen To Turn B.C. Sod

A couple of Ontario's champion plowmen are about to try their hand at spring plowing on the west coast, after having won their Ontario laurels in fall competition.

The men are Ivan Bell, of Kirkfield, champion horse plowman, and Earl Bacher, of Cayuga, tractor winner in the Esso championship class at last fall's International Plowing Match near Simcoe. ### STIRLING CENTENNIAL, AUG. 3rd to 6th, 1958

DO YOU KNOW THAT...

Oddfellowship was instituted in Stirling 76 years ago? The first officers of Stirling Lodge No. 239 were Robert Parker, B. F. Butler, O. Hewatt, W. H. Calder and L. Meiklejohn. These leaders proved an inspiration for succeeding generations and the lofty principles practised under the emblem of the three links has fostered goodwill throughout the whole Stirling area.

In 1894, Stirling Encampment No. 80 was organized and continues to band together individuals interested in worthy community projects. During 1956 Earl Fox brought honours to this Order and himself as he filled, with distinction the station of Grand Patriarch of the Grand Encampment of Ontario. But certain men saw the advantage of a woman's organization also and thirty-seven years ago, Laurel Rebekah Lodge No. 211 was instituted with Mrs. Mabel Megginson as its first Noble Grand and Mrs. Annie Andrews as its first Vice-Grand. Laurel Lodge holds an enviable position throughout the district as its officers have prided themselves on striving to attain perfection in all ritualistic work.

The hall on Charlotte St., constructed in 1956, is an example of co-operative effort and unity of purpose. It is a fitting memorial to those who have served, are serving and will serve the great fraternal bodies promoting "Friendship, Love and Truth."

Objective of $800 Set For District By Local Red Cross Committee

W. J. Morton, Chairman of Local Committee—To Hold House To House Canvass

The Annual Red Cross Appeal is now in progress and the citizens of Stirling are asked to help in donations to this worthy cause.

On Monday next a canvas of the Village will be carried out and the committee would appreciate citizens having their donations ready when the canvassers call. You will appreciate that the canvassers are all busy men and are giving of their time free in order that this canvass may be a success. The need each year grows greater and if each person will do his or her share our objective can be reached.

Local Committee

Members of the local committee are W. J. Morton, Chairman; Rev. A. Packman, Secretary, and O. J. McNabb, Treasurer.

Donations may be left at the Bank of Montreal, Bob Patterson's store or at the Stirling Creamery Office.

The local drive is a part of the Red Cross national campaign. "The work of mercy never ends" and citizens of Stirling and district are urged to give generously to this worthy cause.

Your Red Cross deals in maximums and minimums. It wants to do the most work it possibly can, in the pursuit of the humanitarian ideal that was its founding principle.

It asks each year for the absolutely minimum amount of money to carry out this work.

With this money, your Red Cross provides all Canadians with essential humanitarian services. Through International Relief — is an opportunity for Canadians, through their Red Cross Society, to extend the hand of mercy to all their fellow men, regardless of race, creed, color or geographical boundaries.

Every day, all over the world, someone says "thank you" — to your Red Cross, to you, for the unflinching hand of mercy that reaches out to wherever help is most needed.

Every day, too, a fellow-Canadian, says "thank you" for the help you have offered through your Red Cross.

A committee was appointed to bring in a report re assisting with the Stirling Centennial. Several thank you notes were read year's balance and the Institute has one thousand dollars in bonds. Expenses amounted to $476.00 and this covered district fees, delegate to Guelph, funeral flowers, sick gifts, Christmas gifts, honorariums for officers, first aid supplies for the school, Halloween party, children's day party in the summer, rent for hall in February and $70.00 in donations. #### F.W.I.O. Project

Mrs. Percy MacMullen reported that a parcel valued at $70.00 had been shipped to the Unitarian Service Committee for the F.W.I.O. project. Seventeen Institute members and two non-members had contributed parcels of new and used clothing. Two full layettes were sent, 6 sweaters, 4 teenage dresses and a large assortment of clothing for boys, girls and babies. The second parcel will be shipped in May. She read an appreciative letter which said in part, "The response to our appeal for help through your Provincial President, has been magnificent and your splendid efforts have been worthwhile."

Dr. Lotta Hitchensmanova, who recently visited Korea, gave a survey of conditions there in her first circular letter issued March 7th, 1958. She told how a small community of 250 families had suffered greatly from cold. There were seventeen cases of amputations due to frost bite. One family of three froze to death in their shack. In the recent distribution of supplies from Canada, only one single garment per person was allocated, as there were so many needy people. The war widows, orphans and the very old people need food, warmth and medical care.

Dr. Hitchensmanova closed her letter with "We people in Canada can send all the clothing which we will discard in Spring cleaning and every single piece will be a God-send for adults and children here. We need warm things, especially underwear, coats, blankets, windbreakers, woolies of every kind, pullovers and warm stockings. Every size, every garment, every colour is welcomed by people who are in rags and cannot afford to buy."

At this point Mrs. John Kane was honoured with a Life Membership certificate and pin. She has been a continuous member of River Valley Institute for the past forty-three years. The President and Secretary did the honours. The recipient spoke briefly and voiced thanks.

The next meeting will be held on May 1st and will be on a patriotic theme. Fees were paid for 1958-59 and one new member was added to the roll.

The measuring contest was won by Mrs. George Heasman and she was the recipient of a small prize.

The President voiced thanks for co-operation during the year, after which a special ovation was tendered all retiring officers in recognition of their year's efforts.

Mrs. George Heasman gave a few highlights gleaned at Guelph last year and then read the report of the nominating committee.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen conducted the election and installed the new slate of officers.

The group pledged themselves to work as a unit in the community as well as in the larger sphere of Institute activity, accepting responsibility in District, Area, Provincial, National and International fields of endeavour. The ceremony closed with the Mary Stewart Collect.

A Traveller's Note Book

For one who has to get around town fairly regularly it was a pleasure to be held up by the "Washing Brigade" last week. With hoses spread across the street and a "Niagara" of water snaking into every crook and corner we managed to get through. It was a good sight, the air was a great deal cleaner and the street. Let's give "the big hand" to the dirt whiffers. They deserve our thanks.

Which reminds me. From time to time we have noticed that several storekeepers get out front in the morning; they keep the front of the store clean. The day before rubbish is swept up and destroyed. Some even get as far as the street gutter and keep it clean. May we appeal to all storekeepers to do this one little bit thing. KEEP IT CLEAN.

On the principle that everything has, or should have a Beauty value as well as a Utility value, buildings should be considered. Here again—some of our buildings are well kept, others are not so well kept. Just take a look at your building, are you proud of it, ashamed of it, or just indifferent to it, or is it that the cost is difficult to meet. If the latter, we can sympathize with you in your frustrated feeling, better days will come and in the meantime do the best you can. If it is not a matter of finance—just take another look at it. There are a dozen ways in which it may be improved. Wash it, paint it, repair it; sell it; put a match to it or just give it away, someone may get hold of it who will take a pride in it.

From Here To There

Britains or Eskimos seem to have come in for a whole lot of criticism recently on this side of the Atlantic. The chief fault with them is that they have no refrigerator in the home.

A highly heeled over dressed person was being interviewed recently on a T.V. programme. She was asked: "Have you ever been in the East?" The hic, lady replied: "Yeah. I was born in New York."

Some time ago I was asked if I knew of a benevolent gentleman who would make a loan free of charge to a certain public institution. I've been thinking about this and can place but one person who might do the noble deed. He is around 88 years of age, gets about in a wheelchair, is fond of playing with dolls and at times imagines he is a fried egg, at other times a displaced monarch. I feel sure that he is the man we are looking for, my only concern is to how to contact him.

PHAROS

A highly-skilled driver with poor driver-attitudes is no more fit to share the road than a high-powered car with poor brakes; says the Ontario Safety League.

Life is not so short that there is not time for courtesy. —Drive safely.

Parks Dept.

The planning mentioned in last week's note under this heading is underway. A survey is being made of all likely spots which can be turned into gardens. Meantime we ask your help in the following:

Hints

No doubt there are those of us who have spare bulbs, glads, etc. Then also you will be thinning out the perennials, please put them aside for use in the parks. One day, later on, and when the ground is prepared we will get the whole town to form a "bee". It is then that we shall want the plants, bulbs, etc.

In looking around last week we found that someone had mistaken the Memorial Park for the public incinerator. Waste had been burned there, junk left there and tin cans spread over a whole area. This sort of thing is not accidental, and it is criminal, a shocking disregard for the meaning of this particular plot of land and should be stopped.

Will some fine spirited man, or two, consider using his garden plough for a couple of hours one evening next week. We want to start getting the ground ready for planting. Let's hear from you. This may be your own particular contribution to the beautifying plan for this year.

Also, we are in need of a few loads of good top soil or mould.

St. Paul's W.A.

The Easter meeting of St. Paul's Woman's Association was held on Tuesday afternoon, April 1st, in the Church Parlours, with Mrs. J. Sleeper acting as hostess.

There was a splendid attendance and the President, Mrs. R. A. Patterson, opened the meeting with the theme song and repeating the Apostle's Creed in unison.

Mrs. Roy Tucker, the programme convener, took charge and opened the devotional with Mrs. H. West playing softly hymn 94. Mrs. Tucker gave the call to worship, after which Mrs. Geo. Heasman rendered very beautifully a solo, "Gethsemane" and Mrs. Tucker offered prayer. Mrs. Carl Potter gave the Scripture lesson and Mrs. Earl Luery followed with the Easter message. The devotional closed by singing hymn 249.

The President resumed the chair and conducted the business part of the meeting, after which the program convener and her group presented a two-act Easter playlet entitled, "The Garden of Resurrection," which was written by Mrs. A. Packman. The platform was suitably arranged to represent the empty tomb and decorated with potted plants and foliage. Those taking part were Mrs. R. Rose, Mrs. D. Duffin, Mrs. H. West, Mrs. A. McDonnell, Mrs. H. Waite, Mrs. S. Elliott, Mrs. E. Reynolds, Mrs. Wm.

Wilkins, Mrs. J. Hough, Mrs. R. Bush and Mrs. A. Brooks. During the playlet Mrs. H. West sang "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go" and the group rendered, "Low in a Grave He Lay," accompanied by Mrs. H. David at the piano.

The members were very much impressed with the presentation of this playlet and Mrs. R. A. Patterson on behalf of the W.A. thanked the cast for the time which they had given in preparing this beautiful Easter play, and a special thanks to Mrs. A. Packman who composed it.

The meeting closed by singing, "Christ the Lord is Risen Today," after which the group in charge served a delicious lunch and cup of tea.

The Bible Today

(By Rev. C. R. Ruess)

A branch of the Bible Society has been organized at Happy Valley, a growing settlement on the outskirts of Goose Bay in the Labrador. It is reported by the Rev. B. P. Mohan, district secretary for Cape Breton and Newfoundland.

On a 2,000 mile trip by ship from Sydney up along the Labrador coast, the Bible Society secretary visited many isolated communities in company with the missionaries who minister to them. While most Eskimos today speak English, they understand the Bible better in their mother tongue, and appreciate all that the Bible Society has done to encourage translators and provide Scriptures in the various Eskimo dialects.

At Nain, some 600 miles off Goose Bay, a small group of Eskimos presented $20.00 to Mr. Mohan as their thankoffering to help the Society's work in other lands.

The Philosophy of Life

A man comes into this world without his permission.

He goes out of it against his will.

When he is little the big girls kiss him,

When he is big the little girls kiss him.

When he is poor he is a bad manager.

When he is rich he is dishonest.

If he needs credit he cannot get it.

If he is rich everybody wants to do him a favour.

If he is in political life it is for money.

If he is out of politics he is no good to his country.

If he does not give to charity he is a stingy wretch.

If he does it is for show.

If he is actively religious he is a hypocrite.

If he takes no interest in religion he is a hardened sinner.

If he gives affection he has a soft heart.

If he doesn't he is cold-blooded. If he dies young there was a great future before him.

If he lives to an old age it is to have funeral expenses.

If he saves money he is a miser.

If he spends it he is a fool.

If he has got it he is a twister.

If he hasn't he is no good.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

AND NOW CHICAGO

A millionaire from Texas tried to dominate a Canadian pipeline project, but Canadians finally caught on and were so annoyed they fired one federal government over the deal and urged a new one to clean it up fast. We're fond of Americans, but we rightly refuse to be exploited by them. Another American, this time from the Big Labor movement, doesn't realize this.

I refer to the boss of the Firemen's Union, a Mr. Gilbert, of Cleveland, who, according to press dispatches, has called a big meeting in Chicago, April 8th, to "deal with a campaign by Canadian railroads to eliminate firemen-helpers from diesel-electric locomotives." What Mr. Gilbert ought to be told is that we are capable of dealing with the diesel dispute ourselves; in fact, we have already dealt with it, and any American interference is an insult.

First we had a Federal Conciliation Board study the dispute. They ruled firemen not needed. Mr. Gilbert announced, from Cleveland, a strike. We then appointed, with the agreement of all political parties, a Royal Commission. That Royal Commission was praised by our own Canadian Congress for its fairness. It, too, found firemen are definitely not needed. It said the railroad was extremely generous in protecting each man's job.

Now it would have been understandable and useful for the Firemen's Union of the United States to call a meeting to help the Canadian union leaders adjust to changes. But that is not the purpose. Instead, union boss Gilbert has the gall to announce that he has, according to the dispatches, "rejected the Report as grossly prejudicial, because it completely ignores the position taken by the employees and follows the company's proposals to an alarming degree!"

Well, when an American, whether Big Labor or Big Business, chooses to challenge the integrity of three of Canada's most respected judges, he leaves himself open to our resentment. If he thinks a big Chicago meeting, with only a handful of Canadian representatives, can decide the fate of our transportation or inflict on us unnecessary costs of more than $20 millions a year, he underestimates us considerably.

We are all eager to be friendly with the United States. Surely it is time they realized that we are a friendly but NOT an economic colony. This goes for both American business and American labor. We don't want to be dominated by either.

The famed cedars of Lebanon, once 1,600,000 acres in extent, are now reduced to a few scattered patches.

Six-Cent Boost
In Floor Price of Butter

A support price for butter of 64 cents a pound, delivered at Montreal, was announced Monday by Agricultural Minister Harkness.

The new floor price represents a six-cent-a-pound increase from the present support price of 58 cents a pound at Montreal.

Hog Support Up

Mr. Harkness also announced a support-price boost to $25 from $23 a hundredweight for Grade A hogs delivered at Toronto.

A new price support was established for wool, in the form of a deficiency payment of 60 cents a pound, grading Western range choice 58-60's, half blood staple free on board at Toronto. Wool is not now supported by the government.

New Differentials

Mr. Harkness said the Agricultural Prices Stabilization Board will set "appropriate" differentials of the basic support prices for butter, hogs and wool delivered at other market points.

The new supports were the first set under the Agricultural Stabilization Act passed at the last session of Parliament to replace the old Agricultural Prices Support Act.

Under the price-supports plan, the government will buy butter at 64 cents a pound and hogs at $25 a hundredweight if producers cannot sell these products at equal or better prices on the open market.

The support price is effective for 12 months starting May 1st in the case of butter and April 1st for hogs and wool.

Open Season For
Black Bass, Muskie
Opens June 28th

The general open season for black bass and muskies in Ontario will open this year on June 28th, Lands and Forests Minister Clare E. Mapledoram announces. The season formerly opened on July 1st but July 1st falls on a Tuesday this year; June 28th is a Saturday.

Other amendments to Ontario Fishery Regulations announced by Mr. Mapledoram include:

The open season for black bass in that portion of the St. Lawrence River westerly from the dam at the Robert H. Saunders St. Lawrence Generating Station, Stormont County, will extend from June 16th to October 15th.

A closed season for whitefish has been provided in Lake Simcoe from October 6th to November 5th inclusive. This coincides with the closed season for lake trout in these waters.

Fishing is prohibited from October 15th to April 30th next following in Durham, Northumberland, Peterborough and Victoria Counties. The previous provision which required persons fishing from boats in these four counties to anchor their boats and to use live bait while fishing from May 15th to June 30th inclusive is no longer in effect.

The importation of live piranha into Ontario is now prohibited.

THE FOOD BASKET

BAKE EGGS
MANY WAYS

How often do you bake an egg casserole? ... a fondue? ... a souffle? or an omelet? If "seldom" is your answer, you're not much different from the thousands of other Canadian homemakers who find eggs so simple and quick to cook on top of the stove that they neglect to try cooking them in the oven.

It is true that most of the delightful egg dishes mentioned take longer to put together than the eggs you scramble, fry or poach, but here are some that don't. In all of these baked egg suggestions from the Consumer Section the eggs are used whole, as they come from the shell. Another good point is that you don't have to watch baked eggs as closely as the ones cooked on top of the stove because you simply put them into a slow oven, 320 degs. F, and leave for 12 to 15 minutes, depending on the degree of firmness you like.

1. Line greased custard cups or muffin tins with buttered bread crumbs and strips of cooked bacon, forcing each bacon slice into a ring around the inside. Break an egg into centre. Bake.

2. Cook noodles, mix with a well seasoned cheese sauce and pour into casserole dish. With a spoon make depressions in noodle mixture and break an egg into each depression. Bake.

3. Sauté sliced mushrooms in butter and arrange in bottom of greased custard cups. Break an egg on top of mushrooms, cover with cheese sauce, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and bake.

4. Fill individual baking dishes with corned beef hash, buttered cook spinach, mashed potatoes or Spanish rice. Make a depression in centre of each and break an egg into depression. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake.

5. Pour a tablespoon of cream or top milk into each individual custard cup or muffin pan. Add one or two eggs. Bake.

6. Drain a can of tomatoes and while you're waiting, cover the bottom of a buttered casserole with bread crumbs. Arrange the drained tomatoes on the crumbs. Make hollows with a spoon and break an egg into each hollow. Season the tomato juice with grated onion and pour over the top. Sprinkle with buttered crumbs and bake.

CONSERVATION
NEWS

Forest Protection

The fire prevention effort on summer operations in the Tweed Forest District will be intensified this year. Though the number of fires caused by summer operators usually falls well behind smoker's and camper's fires, the danger is always evident considering the number of men employed and adequate precautions are a condition of every operating authority.

The following are some of the conditions attached to the Work Permit: An accurate description is required of the area on which the permittee will be operating.

A list of the fire fighting equipment the operator must have readily available. This is based on the number of men employed and the local hazard conditions and includes such tools as shovels, axes, pails, pulaski tools, hand pumps, and on larger operations, power pumps and hose.

Appointment of the foreman and possibly other key men as Fire Wardens, responsible for fire prevention and organization of a suppression crew should fire break out.

Other conditions include restrictions on smoking, that is, workmen are forbidden to smoke while walking or working, no "flor made" cigarettes are to be sold in camp or permitted on the operations, lighters are to replace matches. Lunch fires also will be reduced to a minimum, and the operators are required to give adequate supervision in respect to all fire precautions.

How You Can Help
With Problems of Older Persons

In every community, however small or large, older persons and their relatives and friends are faced with problems with which they cannot cope alone, and must have help.

How does an old person find out where to apply for a pension, find a room, get nursing services or a home-maker? How does he apply for a nursing or old age home? How does he get assistance in obtaining dentures and glasses?

Where does he get a job or offer to do a community service? Where does he get medical appliances, physiotherapy, or find a doctor who will take a medical welfare card?

How does he get to a hospital? Where does he find a club? Hundreds of these questions are needing an answer.

Who knows the answers? No one knows them all but it is the business of the Ontario Society on Ageing, 47 St. Thomas Street, Toronto 5, Ont., to provide available information to local groups (church, employer, employees, community service), who may ask for it and receive it without charge.

ATTITUDES
MEET NEEDS

The most highly skilled driver, if his Attitudes are poor, is a "bad" driver. Brilliant car handling, razor-sharp judgment, hair-trigger reactions, perfect physical condition ... can never weigh the scale against irresponsibility, recklessness, immaturity, selfishness, says the Ontario Safety League.

What are Attitudes? How can they be changed? What can be done about the Show-off, Baby-blow-horn, the Speeder, Mr. Move-over-I'm-coming-through?

The Attitudes of human beings are the learned ways of meeting our needs. We may develop Attitudes because they fit in with what we want.

Only two sets of conditions will change those Attitudes. Firstly, we change them when we find they no longer meet the needs that brought them into being. Secondly, we will change them if we develop new needs for which we have no established Attitudes.

Let's be specific. Take a teen-ager with a slight inferiority complex, unsure of himself. He feels a particular need to assert himself, to win the attention and approval of others. He finds, or imagines, that he can get this approval from classmates by show-off driving; boys turn to stare, girls giggle and wave. It becomes an Attitude, because conspicuous driving satisfies one of his needs.

But when he gets into his twenties he finds that the approval he craves no longer comes to him when he "leaves rubber" on starts and stops, or drives at 80 m.p.h. The more mature people he now mixes with regard it as boring, or frightening. His attitude changes. He doesn't particularly believe in careful driving, but he gets no approval from his "dragging" habits.

Then he marries. Now he has a need to protect his family in the car. To keep healthy to support them. To preserve the confidence of his employers, which might be lost if he had repeated accidents and "tickets." These new needs change his Attitudes again; now he believes in good driving.

Education can change Attitudes by exposing the falseness of imagined "needs"; or by creating new, more wholesome needs. Fear (of enforcement, or injury) may curb Expression but it has little effect on Attitudes.

SECOND SCHOOL
FOR THE DEAF

A second provincial school for the deaf will be built within the next two years, Education Minister William J. Dunlop announced recently in the Legislature. Cost will be between $3 million and $5 million.

The new school will be located near the town of Milton. It will be built on 97 acres of provincially-owned land located partly within the limits of Milton and partly in Trafalgar Township.

The Power of a Cent

At today's values one cent does not buy too much, but start thinking in terms of electric energy and you will be surprised how much a cent will do for you.

A cent's worth of electricity at the average domestic cost can save you hours of hard work.

For example, it will ...

- Operate a floor polisher for 3 hours.
- Do two wash loads in an automatic washer.
- Operate a vacuum cleaner for 1 1/4 hours.
- Operate a drill for 5 hours.

DWARF FRUIT TREES FOR THE HOME GARDEN

Dwarf fruit trees can be restricted to a six to eight foot height and are suitable for the home garden. They will eventually require a circular area of about ten feet. According to Blair and Spangelo of the Central Experimental Farm, a well grown six-year-old McIntosh tree on Malling IX roots should produce a half bushel of apples, but, they say much will depend on good pruning, fertilizing and spraying. Only varieties recommended for your district, should be selected.

The old method of dwarfing fruit trees is drastic pruning. Horticultural research has provided the modern gardeners with trees that remain dwarfed and this is accomplished by the use of dwarfing rootstocks.

The Malling IX rootstock is the most suitable for apples. Although this rootstock is sometimes injured by severe winter conditions it is recommended in all districts where apples are commonly grown.

The Angers quince rootstock is suitable for pears. This rootstock is not as hardy as the Malling IX apple stock and therefore can be recommended only in those districts where commercial pear varieties are grown.

Plums can be dwarfed by propagating certain varieties on Prunus besseyi. This rootstock and Prunus tomentosa, are suitable for dwarfing peaches. The graft union should be placed above the soil level at planting time. Trees will not remain dwarfed if this is not done. It is well to remember that dwarf trees are shallow rooted and require staking. Trees should be tied to angle iron, strong wooden posts, or a wire trellis.

Much more detailed pruning is necessary for a dwarf tree than for a standard tree. The top third of the tree should be removed at planting time so that lateral branches will develop. Thereafter annual pruning should be carried out in early spring. Develop the tree with six main lateral branches with the first one no farther than twelve inches from the ground.

Dwarf fruit trees will require an annual application of fertilizer. A complete fertilizer fairly high in nitrogen such as a 10-5-10 should be applied in the spring when the young leaves first appear. The amount to apply will depend on soil fertility but a generous recommendation is one pound for each inch of trunk diameter.

Dwarf trees are easily protected from troublesome insects and diseases by the use of a hand sprayer. Spray materials are readily available.

DON'T OVERLOOK ORCHARD GRASS

There has been a long standing need for a grass species that will provide productive mid-summer grazing. Orchard grass, which is becoming increasingly popular in the pasture meadows, seems to fill this need in part.

Orchard grass has a deep extensive fibrous root system which gives it an advantage over many shallow rooted pasture grasses. Plants recover rapidly after grazing or cutting and respond rapidly to top-dressing with nitrogenous fertilizers. Its greatest advantage, however, lies in its drought resistance where the plants continue growth when many other grasses cease to produce.

Although orchard grass is palatable when in a leafy stage, the maturing stems become woody and unpalatable. Therefore, careful pasture management must provide for maintaining the grass in a leafy condition. This condition may be maintained by careful grazing and or mowing back the fields when many unseaten stems are observed in the pasture.

Orchard grass is sensitive to flooding for prolonged periods and should always be located on areas where there is good surface drainage to provide for rapid spring run-off. Perhaps the greatest enemy to maintaining good stands of orchard grass is severe ice-sheet conditions that occur in some winters. All varieties of orchard grass so far produced will die under these conditions.

Whenever severe winter conditions have caused damage to orchard grass stands, the Canadian bred varieties have been greatly superior to foreign bred varieties in their resistance to winterkilling. Seed production of Canadian bred orchard grass varieties has been greatly limited. However, seed of Hercules, a hardy Canadian bred variety is at present being multiplied and should be available in the near future.

Hog Producers Vote Against Marketing Plan

The Township Federation of Agriculture announced Thursday last that 85 percent of North Easthope Township hog producers oppose present hog marketing methods.

Ballots counted Wednesday night in an unofficial vote showed only 24 of the 292 eligible failed to vote, the announcement said, and five ballots were spoiled. Thirty-nine favoured the present marketing plan and 224 were opposed.

Donald McTavish, Federation President, said the vote was held to "clear the air" and get an opinion on the scheme which he told the directors he is attempting to sabotage.

"Perhaps now the Ontario Hog Producers' Association will believe the scheme would be defeated if put to the vote," he said. "I think this proves beyond any doubt they need to do a little house-cleaning and come up with something better."

Many voters expressed dissatisfaction with compulsory direction of hogs to an assembly point, he said.

Frame Farm Home Burns Near Warkworth

Flames completely destroyed the frame farm home of 90-year-old Frank Way, about two miles east of Warkworth shortly after noon on Friday.

The fire is believed to have started near the chimney on the east side of the building, while the Way family were having dinner.

A neighbour, Donald Cook, saw smoke coming from the east end of the building, and telephoned Mr. Way to ask if everything was alright.

STIRLING CENTENNIAL, AUG. 3rd to 6th, 1958

DO YOU KNOW THAT...

The dial system of the Bell Telephone was installed in Stirling in 1940 — the first installation to be made in Eastern Ontario District? In the Centennial Book which is now in the hands of the Printer, many interesting facts are revealed about the telephones and the faithful employees in the Village and by 1902 this number had only increased to 10. In December 1957, the 1,175th phone was listed.

At first telephone service was restricted to specific hours and in spite of the inconvenience caused to certain individuals, it was a great satisfaction when subscribers realized that any hour, day or night, their calls would receive attention. Continuous service came into effect in Stirling in 1911. Names appearing on Company records as meriting special mention include Mrs. Annie Bailey, Miss Della Descent, Miss Nina Carlisle and Sam Hatton.

Telephones themselves have progressed considerably as early pictures indicate. "Speakerphones" have been introduced elsewhere and are being readily accepted. By this newest device one can speak to or hear a group of people at one time by means of a small concealed microphone and speaker system — or when more privacy of conversation is desired the conventional method is used by the simple pressing of a button. "Drive-in" phones have been inaugurated also. What next can we expect in communication facilities? The Future is necessarily filled with Wonder and Surprise.

St. John's W.A.

The April meeting of St. John's W.A. was held in the Parish Hall on Tuesday last with seventeen members present. Mrs. Jennie Wellman, of Bonarlaw, the Deaneary President, was a welcome guest.

The meeting was opened by singing an Easter hymn. The President, Mrs. Melville Tanner, read from the 28th chapter of St. Mark and conducted the W.A. Litany and Prayers. The roll call was answered by reciting a Commandment. Roll call for May will be answered by naming a Prophet in the Old Testament.

The Treasurer, Mrs. Burton Woodbeck, gave her report, followed by the Dorcas Secretary, Mrs. George Noble, who reported on the W.A. Sale, which will be dedicated this Sunday. It is to go to the Gordon Indian Residential School in Fumich, Saskatchewan.

Mrs. Ken's kind invitation to hold the May meeting of the W.A. at her home was accepted.

Mrs. Wellman made a warm and sincere appeal for an increase in the yearly thankoffering — reminding the members so justly of all that the Missionaries are giving in doing their work. In comparison an increase in our thankoffering giving is surely a very small sacrifice indeed to us here.

Mrs. Woodbeck took the chapter, "Post War Years" in an interesting way, using the wall map of Japan. This chapter from "The Cross and the Chrysanthemum" dealt with the work of the Anglican Communion, the N.S.K.K. in Japan.

Rev. C. R. Gale welcomed Mrs. Wellman, who is making a tour of all the Women's Auxiliaries in the Deaneary, and thanked her for her visit and for her address.

Following an interesting question and answer period conducted by the Rector, Mrs. Frank McGee gave two readings on "Thoughts for Easter." Miss Barbara Woodbeck played a delightful piano selection. The meeting was closed by singing another Easter hymn and Rev. Gale pronounced the benediction.

After an interesting contest cost-$7.03, gathered by Vicky Bateman, solo, "The Pirate," by Laverne Finch with guitar accompaniment; recitation, "Cleaning My Purse," by Barbara Milne; debate, "Resolved that sports occupy too important a place in our lives." The affirmative side was taken by Mrs. Thos. McKeown and Mrs. Wilfred Spencer, while the negative side was upheld by Mrs. Will Rutherford and Mrs. Preston Bothwell. The negative side was victorious. Baton twirling to "Anchors Away," by Patsy and Sherry Spencer was enjoyed.

Stirling Boy Scouts and Cubs Hold Annual Father and Son Banquet

Rev. C. R. Gale, Rector of St. John's, Guest Speaker — Presentation of Badges

On Wednesday evening the annual father and son banquet of the Scouts and Cubs was held in the Community Hall. One hundred and ninety fathers and sons attended and the consensus was that it was one of the best banquets in the history of the local Scout movement.

The evening opened with breaking of the flag by Rover Scout Ron Woodbeck, followed by Grace by Rev. C. R. Gale and the National Anthem. Mr. Wm. Heath, as chairman, welcomed the fathers, and introduced the guests at the head table. J. Irish led in a sing-song of Scout and Cub songs and Doug Holt gave a toast to our church, which was replied to by Rev. A. Packman. Allan Johnston gave a toast to our dads, which was responded to by Bruce Murray. Bob Bell and Don Armstrong contributed a trumpet duet.

Rev. C. R. Gale

Rev. C. R. Gale, rector of St. John's, was the guest speaker and delivered a timely address in which he emphasized the importance of the church. The Scouting movement did a great work in teaching the boys to be good citizens but the church had a further contribution to make in their religious training to help the boys find the ideal truth.

The speaker was introduced by Kenneth Mumby and thanked by D. O. Duffin.

Parks Dept. Stirling Council

Perhaps if we keep at it, we may get the co-operation necessary to bring under control the various grounds for which the Council is responsible and the public should respect and enjoy.

Our Cenotaph could be better treated. In a recent effort to give it the appearance of decency we were compelled to collect waste paper, broken whisky bottles, lumps of junk, tin cans and such discarded material the passer by had no further use for. It would almost seem that our efforts must be directed not to the beautifying of a sacred spot in the general interest of a public accustomed to treat it as Holy Ground, but for the sake of those boys who were not permitted to return to their homes. This is a sad conclusion should it be reached — may we hope that it will not be necessary and that in future, vandalism of this sort will be cut out.

One thing we have noticed, or rather, we have never seen any of our boys or girls enter or desecrate this ground. What has been done has been done by older persons who should at least have sufficient respect for our dead as to keep their resting place free of their filth.

We are still asking for plants, loam and labour.

April Meeting Sidney Jr. Farmers

The April meeting of Sidney Junior Farmers was held at Meadowdale School on the Fourth Concession of Sidney Township on Thursday, April 10th. It was decided that the Sidney Jr. Farmers have a square dance team. Price Morris will be in charge of organizing a baseball team and practices will soon start.

A paper was read by Mrs. Robert Burkitt. Price Morris and Mrs. Robert Burkitt led a sing-song which was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Mr. Jack Riddell, Assistant Agricultural Representative, gave a talk on "Landscaping" and then presented a film on this topic.

After this film there was some discussion on what the Club's project for this year would be. All members are to think about this and it will be decided very shortly.

Ron Hamilton thanked Mr. Riddell for bringing the film. The meeting was adjourned and an evening of recreation and dancing enjoyed, followed by lunch, which closed an evening of education and entertainment.

Close to 40 percent of immigrants entering Canada during 1957 were in the manufacturing, mechanical and construction trades.

St. Paul's Notes

(By Rev. A. Packman)

We are to welcome the local branch of Oddfellows and Rebekahs at St. Paul's on Sunday next, April 20th at 11.00 o'clock. These occasions are very pleasant to our minds and a feature of a well integrated community.

On Sunday, April 13th an "At Home" was held at the Carlisle farm. Rather a bigger number than our first such meeting and well enjoyed. A "Sing" was led by Mr. Don Williams and Mr. Grant Richardson sang a solo, "Evening Prayer." Community Life was the subject of discussion.

The Belleville Presbytery will hold its quarterly meeting on April 30th at St. Paul's. The ladies of St. Paul's have consented to arrange mid-day lunch.

Festival

The date of closure is near. Those who have not yet registered are urged to do so. The Secretary, Mrs. Albert Fraser, 51 John Street, Stirling, would like to have all entries in by the end of this week.

A Traveller's Note Book

A resident has suggested to me that there are certain features of our community life and setting which should be written up, talked down or generally "beefed" about. My reaction was: "Why pick on me?"

My experience suggests that there is nothing about our community that is singular, special or out of the ordinary. Our problems are much the same as in other places and not, I think, as many. I imagine also that we are not as bad as we are sometimes painted. What anti-social action there may be is not over a wide area and is as disturbing to the great majority of Stirling people as to the person above mentioned. Most of us are content to abide by the law, mind our own business, pull our weight generally and like to keep things tidy.

But always, about the beginning of the year and after being snowed up, shut up and restricted, there is a tendency to let our hair down and stir things up a bit. Sometimes this is hurtful as when a bit of idle gossip makes the rounds — but those who listen are very welcome to it, so why bother.

Parking

I should not mention it and would not but that the above mentioned insisted. I hate getting a ticket and I hate to know that other people get a ticket but I have yet to hear of anyone who cried because I got a ticket. I got one alright and had to either eat it or like it. In Belleville I got a rude reminder that the city police and officials just did not give a hoot as to whom I was or where I came from. This injured my pride a bit, but again, I had to like it. For driving my car at 33 miles an hour down

Dundas Street, the fine was $8.50, objected, nicely, of course, but no "soap."

I don't think I will go into Belleville any more.

Dragged To The Summit

It is said that the character of a man may be determined by his deeds; of a tyrant or commander, by his decisions; of a government, by the colour of its compromises; and of a nation — save in times of utmost stress — by its beliefs, prejudices and illusions.

About this present a future writer might possibly say: "In all this emotional traffic between Russia and the West, the Americans are reacting vigorously, characteristic and rather absurd way." First of all they refused absolutely to either walk to the summit, ride to the summit, be lifted on the waves of necessity to the summit or even agree that there is a summit to reach. Now, probably because of the great pressure that has been brought to bear upon this saddening situation, they are agreed on reaching "Camp A." I only hope they won't get "cold feet" at so low an elevation. Talks of some kind there must be. In the past we have taken the line of fighting it out first and thinking it out later. This seems to be our last chance not to commit suicide.

Or perhaps our friends really believe that any mushroom cloud of the future will appear, not over America, but over Europe.

Not In Arts

"Yes, I'll give you a job. Sweep out the store."

"But I'm a college graduate!"

"Okay, I'll show you how."

WEEKLY EDITOR

George A. Dills, of Acton, Ont., started in the newspaper business in 1907. During his fifty and one years in the profession he has done much to help make Canadian weekly newspapers what they are today. Mr. Dills is now editor-in-chief of two Ontario weeklies: the Acton Free Press, and the Canadian Champion, in Milton. He has been elected "Man of Birthday wishes were extended to a member. The service closed with an Easter hymn and Mrs. Frank Jeffs gave the benediction prayer.

The hostess and lunch committee served refreshments.

The Bible Today

(By Rev. C. R. Ruda)

Although production of Scriptures by the British and Foreign Bible Society has tripled in the past ten years there are still hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of orders that cannot be filled due to lack of funds, reports the Rev. K. G. McMillan, general secretary for Canada. Since 70% of its Scriptures are sold at less than cost, the increasing demand calls for a larger subsidy.

Mr. McMillan emphasized that while the British and Foreign Bible Society has been at work for 154 years, the effort to provide Scriptures for the world is really in its infancy, the rate of literacy is expected to increase from its 17% to 50%, and the population of nearly 400 million is growing by five million a year.

This situation, as applied to other countries as well, presents the greatest challenge of all time to the Bible Societies.

Moral Responsibility Campaign To Prevent Traffic Accidents

"You are morally responsible for safe driving" is the theme of a province-wide traffic safety campaign being conducted by the Ontario Department of Transport. The campaign will be sustained through Sunday, April 20th.

Ministers, Rabbis and Priests throughout the province have offered their assistance. A kit of materials appropriate to the subject is being made available to them. Many have already expressed interest in developing sermons and addresses on this important subject as part of the general campaign to promote proper behaviour on our highways.

In commenting to the Hon. James N. Allan, Minister of Transport on the campaign, religious leaders have been outspoken in their belief that many lives and much suffering will be saved through the application of fundamental religious beliefs to day by day behaviour on the streets and highways.

Dr. E. A. Thomson, Clerk of the Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada points out, "Everyone who believes in the sixth commandment, 'Thou shalt not kill' must stand behind every effort to reduce the tragic toll of death on our highways and streets."

Rev. C. Howard Bentall, President of the Baptist Federation of Canada writes, "This is a matter of moral concern and I certainly hasten to inform you of my wholehearted approval of your province-wide safety education campaign."

Cardinal McGulgan, Archbishop of Toronto, approving of the effort, expressed his willingness to co-operate in the interests of safe driving.

D. L. Michael on behalf of the National Executive of the Seventh Day Adventist Church in Canada expressed "our desire to co-operate fully in

38c SLUMP

I'm a great believer in advertising, so perhaps I've grabbed at this story because it proves my point.

Alan Donahoe, a tough-minded newspaper man, took a sharp look at the business slump in the United States (the same one that has been reflected here) and boiled it down to figures we can all understand.

Consumer spending dropped a billion dollars. Sounds like a lot, doesn't it? But when you shake it up and look at it, it means only 38c per family per week. American families tightened their purse strings to that extent — and stories quickly began to liquidate their inventories. American weren't tightening purse strings because they didn't have the money — they were adding to their net savings at the rate of 20 billions a year.

What is needed, then, to start things humming again in the U.S.A. and Canada?

Very simple, says Donahoe. If every family starts to spend at the old rate again — another 38c per week — we're off and running.

Now this may be an oversimplification of the problem. Simple or not, it makes a great deal of sense. And it presents a challenge to those who are in the business of advertising — whether buying it, selling it, or writing it.

I visited a small Manitoba town the other day where business is humming. This town, Steinbach, hasn't a very large population, but it has all the zip and zest of a city. Store fronts are bright, there are smart advertising signs everywhere, and the local weekly newspaper is full of clever advertising. I doubt that the merchants of Steinbach pay much attention to recession talk.

Advertising has helped this town, there is not a bit of doubt about that. Advertising can do wonders — I've seen it happen again and again. It bothers me when people who should know better treat advertising with disdain, or attack it as "commercialism."

I believe it is time we all stopped advertising the so-called recession. Instead we should start to advertise our tremendous resources, our abundance of good things, and our faith in a big future for Canada. Gloom, lack of confidence and fear are the only things that can stop us. Confidence, good advertising and smart merchandising can keep the wheels spinning in any community. After all, it was only a 38c slump. Let's trade it in on a 50c boom!

Rylstone W.I.

On Wednesday afternoon the annual meeting of Rylstone Women's Institute was held in the Sunday School Room of Zion Church, with a good attendance. The Institute Ode and Creed opened the meeting and the roll call was answered by paying fees for the year 1958-59. Twenty-three members were enrolled at this time.

Minutes of the March meeting were read, as were the minutes of the last annual meeting and an outline of the year's work and the Treasurer's report. It was decided that there would not be a delegate sent to the Officer's Conference in Guelph in June.

Mrs. Ernest Irwin, District President for North Hastings, and a member of Rylstone Institute, brought greetings and spoke a few well chosen words on Institute work.

Mrs. Chris Newman, of Campbellford, a worker in the T.B. Clinic, gave a short talk on tuberculosis and the coming X-Ray survey in Northumberland.

Mrs. Fred Barnum, District Director, gave a splendid report on the recent executive meeting in Madoc. Good reports were given by everyone of the Convenors of the Standing Committees.

Mrs. Stanley Kerr, President, then declared all offices vacant, and Mrs. Wilfred Spencer was chosen to conduct the election of officers for the coming year. Following are the officers for 1958-59:

President, Mrs. Stanley Kerr; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Donald Kerr; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Jim Gray; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Ellis Jones; District Director, Mrs. Jack Watson; Alternate, Mrs. Wilfred Spencer; Directors, Mrs. Carl Reid, Mrs. Chas. Stewart and Mrs. Caroline Wright; Pianist, Mrs. Percy Reid; Sunshine Committee, Mrs. Ray Stewart, Mrs. Sanford Wilson and Mrs. Carl Reid; Auditors, Mrs. Clair Irwin and Mrs. Jack Watson.

Convenors of Standing Committees — Agriculture and Canadian Industries, Mrs. Gordon Meiklejohn; Citizenship and Education, Mrs. Percy Reid; Historical Research and Current Events, Mrs. Lindsay Anderson; Assistants, Mrs. Fred Barnum and Mrs. Ellis Jones; Home Economics and Health, Mrs. Alfred Akins; Public Relations and Community Activities, Mrs. Ernest Irwin; Resolutions, Mrs. Don Stewart; Girl's Club Leaders, Mrs. Alfred Akins and Mrs. Wilfred Spencer.

At the close of the election the re-elected President took the chair and thanked the ladies for their help in the past year and their faith in her for another year. The meeting closed with the National Anthem and lunch, was served by the hostess, Mrs. Lindsay Anderson and her committee.

HUSKIES PLAYED BIG ROLE IN OPENING UP NORTHLAND

Huskies have played an important role in opening up the Canadian North, according to the new Encyclopedia Canadiana.

In an article on sled dogs, the encyclopedia credits them with having served as a means of transportation for explorers, surveyors, trappers, hunters, fur-traders, prospectors, and the R.C.M.P. They have hauled mail and cargo and have been used in search and rescue work.

The diet of the husky varies with the locality. On the coast he may subsist on fresh seal meat and blubber. In the interior his mainstay may be dried salmon, or he may eat his driver's fare of rolled oats and bacon.

When used for racing, huskies are fed meat, mainly in conjunction with commercially prepared dog food.

Huskies have been known to pull heavy loads on little or no food for several days. They have a strong affection for and loyalty to their drivers and often have died in harness from starvation and exhaustion.

There are four distinct and recognized breeds of northern dogs: the Eskimo, which is thought to have originated in Greenland, Labrador and the northeastern part of the continent; the Malamute, which is the oldest native dog known to Alaska; the Samoyed, and the Siberian husky, which originated in Siberia.

Labor department authorities report that more than 30,000 new jobs were created in the construction industry in Canada during 1957.

Control of Sale of Firecrackers Asked By Firemen

Representatives from fire departments in ten municipalities in Hastings and Prince Edward Counties met at Wellington for their April meeting.

The meeting was opened by the President, Jas. Walker, of Marmora. Chief Jerry Vance of the Belleville Department spoke in regard to membership in the Ontario Fire Chiefs Association and urged all Fire Chiefs to join the association, which conducts a school at the University of Toronto for three days each year.

Fire Chief Ayers, of Wellington, welcomed the visitors and introduced Mr. Clare Clapp, Reeve of Wellington, who also welcomed the fire fighters. He thought the Mutual Aid idea was a step in the right direction. Every village or town should have good fire fighting equipment and the Fire Chief should receive the backing of the Municipality. He spoke of the proposed tournament to be held in Deseronto in June and said that Wellington would be glad to hold a second one there.

The next meeting will be held at Bancroft and Deseronto will put on a demonstration there.

The question of fire crackers was discussed and a resolution was passed to ask each Council in the area to control the sale and discharge of fire crackers in their municipalities.

Lapel pins for members of the Association were discussed and it was decided to offer a prize for the best design turned in by a member.

The date of the monthly meeting was given some consideration and it was decided to leave it on the first Wednesday in each month and this was endorsed by a show of hands.

Mr. John Turnbull of the Fire Marshall's office, was the guest speaker. He referred to the Eastern Convention in July and said that this association was part of District No. 5, which included from Northumberland to the Quebec border. He agreed with Chief Vance that all chiefs should belong to the Fire Chief's Association and attend the school at Toronto. He said that too many municipalities were without adequate protection which was very important. One fire might go a long way on the cost of the equipment. Mutual Aid was doing a good job of selling to the municipalities the need for fire protection. It was important to keep up the interest in the association and to keep the running card up-to-date. Each Dept. must function according to the plan if it was to be successful. The Fire Marshall's office would do anything to help the organization. Mutual Aid is keeping down fire losses and reducing insurance rates in some areas. Several other matters came up for discussion including the importance of safety clothing for firemen, two-way radios for fire chiefs and annual dues.

Meeting adjourned until May 7th at Bancroft Legion Hall.

The safest spot in a car is the middle of the floor, in the rear compartment. A back seat rider should dive for it if a crash is imminent; recommends the Ontario Safety League.

College Graduates Lazy and Lack Thinking Power

W. F. McMullen, of Peterborough, said recently today's education system produces college graduates who can't "think, read, write, spell or express themselves."

Mr. McMullen, engineering personnel manager for Canadian General Electric Company, was addressing a meeting of the Ontario Secondary Schools' Headmasters' Association, being held in Toronto in conjunction with the Ontario Education Association convention.

He said university and high school graduates entering business and industry today have textbook mentalities, can't think independently, are lazy and lack decision, initiative and energy.

Parents and industry should be partly blamed, the first for making the home only a place to eat and sleep; the second by using short-term incentives and channelling advertising toward the baser tastes.

Most students felt the world owed them a living, Mr. McMullen said.

"Far too many don't even want to go even the first mile if they can help it. They lack basic knowledge of any one subject and had a smattering of many."

"There must be something wrong with education which produces university graduates who cannot think, read, write, spell or express themselves adequately in their own language."

CONSERVATION NEWS

FOREST PROTECTION

The official opening of the forest fire season was on April 1st and will continue on through the summer until October 31st. During this period certain special regulations are in effect with respect to the setting out of fires. People in the Tweed Fire District and especially in the new areas added to the District within the past year, should make themselves acquainted with these regulations which come under the Forest Fires Prevention Act.

One of the most important regulations affecting the general public is the one which necessitates all fires for other than smoking and warmth be authorized by a "Fire Permit." These fire permits may be obtained from your nearest Forest Ranger or Fire Warden in Townships under agreement for the prevention and control of forest fires. The permits outline the conditions under which burning may be carried out.

Persons burning dry grass and leaves at this time of the year should take all precautions possible to keep these small fires under control. Spring fires travel fast and often cover big areas before they can be controlled. There is only one way to avoid them and that is don't let them happen. Every man-caused fire can be prevented if proper precautions are taken.

Observance of the Fire Safety Rules will go a long way in the Prevention of Forest Fires.

The aim of forest management is to harvest trees and maintain the yield on a perpetual basis.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

CARE MUST BE TAKEN TO PRODUCE QUALITY MILK

The objective of every Ontario milk producer should be to provide milk that meets the highest standard in every respect. With color, flavor, acidity, sediment and bacteria count all being checked upon its arrival at the processing plant, he can assure himself of better financial returns by the use of approved methods of caring for milk before it leaves his farm.

Since cooling of milk slows up bacterial action and permits the milk to remain fresh for a longer period, Marvin Beach of the Kemptville Agricultural School advises that milk should be cooled as soon as it is taken from the cows and should be kept at a temperature of 50 degs. F. or lower until used.

There are several types of mechanical coolers that may be used, but a simple method is to set the cans in plenty of water 45 degs. F. or lower. Each lot of milk should be cooled separately as warm milk added to milk already cooled may produce an off flavor.

Bulletin #84, "A Guide to the Production of High Quality Milk," may be obtained by residents of Ontario from the Information Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

RED-BANDED LEAF ROLLERS IN EASTERN CANADIAN ORCHARDS

For many years the red-banded leaf roller seldom caused more than very minor damage to fruit orchards in Ontario and Quebec, but, according to G. G. Dugan of the Vineland Entomology Laboratory, Science Service, Canada Department of Agriculture, this insect has become a serious pest of apples in the last 10 years. As much as half the crop has been injured in heavily infested orchards, he says, and special control measures have had to be employed in some orchards each year. In a few instances pears have also been seriously attacked in Ontario but other fruits in Eastern Canada have been relatively free of this pest.

Shortly after the beginning of the present outbreak of the red-banded leaf roller in 1947 this insect was found to be particularly susceptible to the insecticide DDT (a close relative of DDT), and it was rapidly adopted for commercial control. Parathion, although not so effective as DDT, was also used in some orchards. In 1956 and 1957 the leaf roller caused increasingly serious injury in many apple orchards and there were indications that DDT was not giving as good control as previously. This was possibly due to the development of a resistant strain of the insect.

Investigations on the biology and control of the red-banded leaf roller have been conducted for the past few years by the Entomology Laboratories at Vineland Station and Simcoe in Ontario, and by the Entomology Section of the Science Service Laboratory at St. Jean, Que. Because of its present importance as a pest of apples, a major research project on its biology and control has recently been established at the Simcoe Laboratory in Norfolk County.

There are usually two broods of leaf roller caterpillars each year and these attack both the leaves and fruit, spinning a fine web under which they feed. Partially grown caterpillars attach a leaf to the fruit and feed under the protection of this leaf on the skin and flesh of the fruit. They usually leave a superficial scar sometimes as large as a 50-cent piece. Feeding injury confines to increase right up to harvest and even after harvest if the fruit is left in containers in the orchard.

The red-banded leaf roller occurs in the North Eastern part of the United States and in Ontario and Quebec. It feeds on as many as 65 different plants including fruit trees, some vegetables and weeds.

EXCESSIVE WEED SEED COUNT DETRIMENT TO QUALITY CROP

Careful inspection of the seed box can produce a fairly accurate indication of what a farmer can expect in the way of crops for the coming year, reports the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. If the seed box is full of living seed which has been carefully cleaned and treated for the control of smut and protection from seedling blight and root rot; and if the variety is that which is recommended for the soil was said touched.

and climatic conditions of his particular farm, he can expect that with favorable weather conditions he will have a good crop. While it is true that weather plays a large part in crop yields, good weather cannot produce a good crop unless good seed properly prepared for planting has been used.

The seed-drill survey conducted last year by the Field Crops Branch revealed that only 55 percent of the samples graded No. 1, and 20 percent were considered unfit for seed due to low germination or excessive weed seed content. Treated samples rose to 73 percent, an indication that many farmers are taking steps to prevent some of their controllable losses.

Today, agronomists work vigorously to combat plant diseases and to improve the nutritional value and yield. If these latest developments are not put into use, farmers cannot expect to have top quality crops. The day when a man's success was measured by hard work is past; success now depends on the efficiency of his work.

Crops are the life blood of the farm programme for the land and the seed sown must come the returns so necessary to offset the high costs of modern farming.

CONTROLLED GRAZING OF DAIRY CATTLE

Controlled grazing of dairy cattle has been found to be an effective means of obtaining the highest productivity from pasture areas available for the dairy herd at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. V. S. Logan of the Central Experimental Farm reports that several systems have been experimentally tested to overcome the problem of seasonal variation in pasture growth and minimize losses from animal activity.

That seasonal variation in pasture growth is great, has been shown by determinations made with common pasture mixtures where up to 80 percent of the annual growth occurred before the end of July. It has been estimated that with the usual free range grazing, approximately 40 percent of available forage may be wasted by contamination with animal droppings, by trampling, and by animals lying down.

The first system of controlled grazing was rotational pasturing and the harvesting of early-season surplus grass for hay or silage. This method of controlled grazing has not been adopted widely in Canada, probably because of the extra fencing and watering facilities required.

A more recent system of controlled grazing, termed "daily strip grazing," has been tested at Ottawa and on some Branch Farms. The method consists of confining cows by means of electric fencing to an area that will provide grazing for one day. One electric fence is stretched between two permanent fences along the advance side of the day's grazing area. A second fence is strung behind the cows to protect aftermath recovery. The latter is strung in a manner to provide direct access to the day's grazing through the entrance to the pasture field. A constant water supply is located near this entrance. The advance fencing unit is easily moved at the same time each day. It is sufficient to move the rear fence at weekly intervals. As aftermath recovers sufficiently on the initially grazed area the cows are moved back to begin another cycle. At this time surplus grass from the ungrazed area is harvested for silage or hay.

Experimental evaluation of "daily strip grazing" at Ottawa, has shown that up to 26 per cent higher productivity can be obtained than with the usual free range method.

A study is now in progress to determine the possible value of "mechanical grazing," which consists of machine-cutting the daily grass requirements, and feeding the pasture to cows in the stable or dry lot.

Cash Taken From Foxboro Co-Op

Safe-crackers some time over the week-end forced their way into the Foxboro Co-Operative store then pried the door off the heavy safe and escaped with approximately $70 in cash.

Provincial police said entry to the store had been gained through the front door of the building which was found jimmied. Nothing but the safe was said touched.

CONTROL OF WHITE GRUBS IN TURF

Turf damage by a certain type of white grub can be quite extensive in Eastern Canada and parts of Manitoba and is a serious menace to lawns, parks, terraces, golf courses, cemeteries and ornamental gardens. A leaflet on the control of this pest has been prepared by Entomologist G. H. Hammond and can be obtained from the Entomology Division of the Science Service, Canada Department of Agriculture, Science Service Building, Carling Avenue, Ottawa, Ontario.

Cheese Manuf. And Milk Producers Agree Floor Price Essential

Spokesmen for both the cheese manufacturing and cheese milk producing sections of the industry expressed the hope that the federal government would soon announce a floor price for cheese which would place it in a competitive position with other dairy products. These views were expressed at a well-attended spring conference of Eastern Ontario cheesemakers held at the Kemptville Agricultural School on Thursday, April 10th. J. A. Fraser, of Vankleek Hill, secretary of the Ontario Cheese Manufacturers' Association, gave the views of the manufacturers, while Hector Arnold, of Campbellford, president of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association, spoke for the latter group. Figures of 34 and 35 cents per pound were suggested as being satisfactory minimum prices by the two speakers.

Alex H. Turner, vice-chairman of the new Agricultural Stabilization Board described the legislation requiring the establishment of a floor price for nine key farm commodities and emphasized that such prices were set for a 12-month period and were to be related to production costs.

Other speakers at the evening session were J. F. Robinson, chief cheese instructor of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, and A. M. Barr, Principal of K.A.S.

During the afternoon session the group was brought up to date on current developments respecting quality improvement programmes and cost studies. M. E. Beach and O.R. Irvine, of K.A.S., demonstrated methods of assessing the qualities of lactate starters used in cheesemaking, while F. D. Murphy of the Canada Department of Agriculture complimented the manufacturers on the excellent job being done in Ontario in producing clean cheese. Dr. D. M. Irvine of O.A.C., Guelph, described several foreign-type cheeses now being made extensively in Ontario, while O. H. J. White, of Ottawa, dealt with methods of controlling certain defects in Cheddar cheese which cause inconvenience to consumers and retailers and result in lower returns to factories.

Harold Montgomery, of Monkland, winner of a recent Commonwealth cheese show in England, was honoured by A. L. Gibson, former head of the K.A.S. Dairy Division, by the presentation of a cheese tier.

The afternoon session concluded with a discussion of cheese factory operating costs. Earl A. Haslett, Farm Economics Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, stated that costs of making Cheddar cheese in 1956 averaged five and one quarter cents per pound and that many small factories usually had costs above this figure. A panel chaired by S. G. K. Ault, of Winchester, discussed methods of reducing costs by better control of boilers, can washing operations and general cleaning. Panel members were William Buel, Monkland; Claude Flood, of Plum Hollow; and John Fraser, of Vankleek Hill.

THE FOOD BASKET

WHAT'S BEHIND THE LABEL ON A CAN OF PEAS?

When you look at the label on a can of vegetables or fruit, how many clues do you find about the food inside — or, do you read the printing? If your answer is negative, then you're probably "missing the boat," for wise shoppers know that the label is their key to quality.

The Home Economists of the Consumer Section thought it would be interesting to find out just how many different things are printed on the labels. So, they selected 5 cans of peas to use as an example. On one of the labels they found 13 different printed items including the picture and altogether on the 5 labels there were 18 various types of information.

Perhaps you know that all labels used by the packer must first be approved by the head of the Fruit and Vegetable Division of the Department of Agriculture. This is to assure that they give a true description of the contents. The government regulations require that certain information appear on all labels. For canned peas the following must be shown:

- (1) Name and address of the packer — so that complaints and compliments about the food may be directed to them.
- (2) The true and correct name of the product — in this case, PEAS.
- (3) The grade — Canada Fancy, the highest grade for special purposes where appearance is especially important (e.g. Buttered Peas); Canada

Choice, the next highest grade for use where perfect appearance is not essential (e.g. Creamed Peas); and Canada Standard for use where appearance is not a consideration and where the higher grade would be extravagant (e.g. Pea Soup). There is another lower grade, Canada Sub-Standard, but this is not generally found in retail stores.

(4) The volume of the can — generally 20 fluid ounces, 16 fluid ounces or 10 fluid ounces although the use of 28, 48 and 105 fluid ounce cans are also permitted.

(5) A reference to the size of peas — If they are not graded as to size, the label must be marked "ungraded as to size," "mixed sizes" or "assorted sizes." If they are graded as to size, the label will be marked Size 1, Size 2 or 3 or 4 or 5, with Size 1 being the smallest.

(6) There is a special processed pack of Canned Peas. These are not artificially coloured and calcium hydroxide or magnesium hydroxide may be added in limited amounts to maintain the natural colour of the product. The label indicates the following words: "Special Process — Alkalies Added."

(7) When a brand name suggests that the product was packed in a country other than Canada then the label should state the product was packed in Canada. If an imported product is sold under a Canadian first dealer label then the label should indicate the country of origin. (First dealer means any packer or wholesaler or retailer who buys food products packed by another for sale under his own label).

(8) If the brand name is a geographical name the "word 'brand'" must appear immediately below the brand name. Otherwise it might misrepresent the product as being packed in a certain place and this often is not a fact.

All of this information appeared, of course, on the sample labels mentioned earlier. In addition, to attract the eye of the consumer or to help her in making the best use of canned peas, the manufacturer voluntarily included some of the following on the labels: the company's brand name; an illustration; attractive descriptive words for peas such as finest, young, tender, sweet; the quantity in cups, the number of servings; directions for heating; recipes and suggestions for using the peas; storage instructions and an explanation of the type of processing used.

So, next time you go shopping for canned peas take a good look at the facts on the label. Think of them as a guide to the quality and type of the product inside. Choose the grade and size that suits your needs and then compare the prices of the various brands of these peas.

Creating New Tree Crops

The old-time saying that wood cutters should be made to plant two trees for every one they take from a forest is opposed by the Canadian Forestry Association as a useless legend. A well-managed cutting operation will provide for re-growth of a new forest through nature's own seeding process.

McIntosh — Morton Wedding Saturday

A pretty double-ring wedding ceremony was solemnized in Wellman's United Church on the Rawdon Circuit on Saturday, April 12th at 1:30 p.m., with Rev. W. G. Fletcher, B.A., officiating, when Muriel Jeanne, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Morton, Harold, Ontario, became the bride of John Douglas McIntosh, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh, Stirling, Ontario.

The Church was decorated with baskets of white and pink gladioli, while satin streamers and fern designated the pews.

Mrs. Frederick Beckett provided traditional wedding music. Mrs. Jim McIntosh, of Stirling, was soloist and rendered "Because" before the ceremony and "The Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register.

The winsome bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a floor-length gown designed on Elizabethan lines, enhanced with a bodice of chantilly lace and lily-pointed long sleeves. A full bouffant skirt of fine tulle complemented with inserted panels of lace fell softly from a dainty nipped in waist-line.

Her Juliet cap of matching lace was showered with sequins and was caught to a circular silk illusion veil with hand rolled edges. She carried a semi cascade of "Happy Day" roses and stephanotis.

The groom's sister, Miss Margaret McIntosh, Brockville, was maid of honour.

The bride's two sisters were also attendants, Miss Mildred Morton as bridesmaid and Miss Lois Morton as junior bridesmaid.

The attendants were all gowned in identical floor-length frocks of nylon tulle over taffeta in graduated shades of blue — powder blue, romance blue and cotton blue. The dresses were fashioned with full side ruffles, bouffant skirts, enhanced with a crossed and pleated bodice emphasized with a softly draped cowl neckline at the back.

Their accessories of matching color included ruffled gauntlets and narrow head bandeaus of net. They carried nosegays of white and tinted carnations to match their dresses with a white rose as a central theme.

Miss Heather McIntosh, Toronto, cousin of the groom, was flower girl in a matching dress of ice blue and she carried a cute basket of sweet peas.

Master Gordon Morton, brother of the bride, was ring bearer and carried the rings on a satin cushion.

Mr. Jim McIntosh, Stirling, was groomsman for his brother. The ushers were Mr. Don McIntosh, Stirling, brother of the groom, and Mr. Jack Jones, Belleville, a brother-in-law of the groom.

A reception for one hundred guests was held at the bride's home which was tastefully decorated with wed-

STIRLING CENTENNIAL, AUG. 3rd to 6th, 1958

DO YOU KNOW THAT ...

Blacksmith shops and livery stables were as numerous in the early days as service stations are today? Perhaps trade names and advertised brands did not influence the buying public to the same degree but good workmanship, pleasant personality and competitive facilities were the greatest assurance of business. It was as necessary then to have a stable as it is now to have a parking lot. All hotels provided accommodation for horses and several individuals made a business of supervised stables and kept horses and vehicles for hire.

The Centennial Book will recall to the minds of many readers some of the familiar places. Of particular interest is one picture of the Grdwood Blacksmith Shop and Carriage Works. Certain lines were manufactured as standard products but it was possible to have a vehicle custom built to certain specifications. Thus a carriage maker was of necessity an experienced designer.

Some Smithys and their locations may cause older citizens to reflect on changes through the years of memory.

Lyman Wheeler was established on the lot now occupied by Grant Montgomery; James Mott carried on his trade on the corner of Front and Allen Streets; Hough's Blacksmith Shop was familiar to all — centrally located where Perry Utman's now reside; Ken Ray's machine shop was a popular spot also. Originally it was managed by Henry and George Kerr, later by Jackson Moore and then Bob Williams.

ding bells and streamers. The dining table was centred with an all-white tiered wedding cake with pink roses accentuating each edge and flanked with silver candle holders and white tapers. Wellman's W.A. catered for the buffet luncheon.

The waitresses were Misses Donna Carlisle, Barbara Hadley, Doreen Teal, Doris Reid, Mrs. Gordon Osborne and Mrs. George Woodhouse.

The bride's mother received her guests in a simply designed sheath dress of Caribbean blue — imported silk with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by the groom's mother, wearing a powder blue lace frock with pink accessories and a matching corsage of pink hyacinths.

Rev. W. G. Fletcher proposed a toast to the bride to which the groom responded.

Brief addresses were given by the bride's former employer, Mr. Gordon Carvett, Belleville; the groom's employer, Mr. Howard Clarke, Ottawa; the bride's grandfather, Mr. Charles Morton, Harold; the groom's Pastor, Rev. W. H. V. Walker, and the fathers of the bride and groom.

Mrs. McIntosh chose for a wedding trip to Niagara, Buffalo and other points around Lake Ontario, a dress of figured blue polished cotton designed with a portrait neckline, short sleeves, very full skirt with matching bow and streamers cascading down the back; a tailored coat of royal blue with large pockets, push-up sleeves dotted with embroidery. She wore beige accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

On their return they will reside at 851 Kirkwood Avenue, Apartment 2, Ottawa, Ontario.

Guests were in attendance from Toronto, Brockville, St. Ann's, Coburno, Fenelon Falls, Peterborough, Byron, Ottawa, Smithfield, Belleville, Campbellford, Stirling and near-by points.

What Others Say I

AIR TRAVEL SAFEST

It might appear from the figures that air travel, since it now kills approximately as many people in an average year as does rail travel, is no any safer.

But considering the enormous number of miles covered by airlines in a year and the large number of passengers carried it is undoubtedly still the safest form of travel.

However, matters of crowded air lanes and ever-higher speeds are bringing problems which must be solved.

If the airline people are determined to hold their record for safety, they will have to be on the alert to take whatever steps may be necessary.

He who is prejudiced is usually down on something he's not up on.

Members of Oddfellow and Rebekah Lodges Attend Service at St. Paul's

Rev. A. Packman Delivered Inspiring Message — Special Music By Choir

Commemorating the 139th Anniversary of the founding of their Order on this continent, the members of the various branches of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in Stirling and visiting brethren attended Divine Service in St. Paul's United Church on Sunday morning at eleven o'clock.

Marshaled by Bro. R. Rose, the members of Stirling Lodge, No. 239, and Stirling Encampment, No. 80, together with a large number of visiting brethren paraded from their lodge room on Charlotte St. At the Church they were joined by members of Laurel Rebekah Lodge No. 211, who occupied the front pews of the Church. Visitors were present from many lodges in the district including Campbellford, Picton, Trenton, Belleville, Springbrook and Madoc.

The simple but impressive service was conducted by Rev. A. Packman, with the first Scripture Lesson being read by Mrs. J. S. Whitehead, Noble Grand of Laurel Lodge, and the second lesson by Robert L. Hulin, Noble Grand of Stirling Lodge. The Junior Choir, under the leadership of Mrs. Harold West, sang "Two Little Hands." The senior choir was heard in the anthem, "Hark, Hark My Soul."

Rev. Packman delivered an inspiring sermon in which he reminded his congregation that Religion is only worthwhile if it ceases to remind us of the practical side of life. We are admonished to visit the fatherless and the widow in their affliction. To be a member of a fraternal society or service club is an opportunity to pay our debt to society which has done so much for us. Oddfellowship had its birth in a Bible Class, men who were interested in the economic and social welfare of their fellowmen. "No matter what the state does, we need more and more voluntary ser-

Miss Donna Stapley Bride of Richard Bryce Philp at St. Paul's

Tall white standards of Calla lilies, interspersed with ferns, formed a lovely setting on Saturday, April 19th at 3 p.m. in St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, for the marriage of Donna June Stapley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Stapley, of Holloway, to Richard Bryce Philp, son of Mr. Harry Philp and the late Mrs. Philp, of Stirling. Rev. A. Packman officiated in the double-ring ceremony.

Miss Grace Pitman presided at the console of the organ and accompanied the soloist, Miss Marilyn Eggleton, Toronto, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the ceremony and "Because" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her sheath gown of white French lace with pleated overskirt of organza ending in a chapel train. Pearls and sequins trimmed the round neckline and her costume was complemented by matching elbow length mitts. Her shoulder length veil of Swiss net fell from a crown of mother of pearl sequins and she carried a cascade of gardenias and feathered carnations.

The maid of honour, Miss Marjorie Eva Ketcheson and bridesmaids, Miss Norma Fair and Mrs. Robert Philp, wore identically styled street length frocks of Royal blue chiffon over silk taffeta with matching shoes and feathered headresses. Pink gloves and earrings completed their costume. They carried nosegays of white, pink and blue mums. Karen Bateman, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a short dress of pink lace and tucked organza with pink floral headress and carrying a white basket of mixed flowers. Lin Stapley, brother of the bride, was ringbearer. Mr. Robert Philp was groomsmen for his brother, while the ushers were Mr. Robert Eggleton, Peterborough, and Mr. Gerald Cooke, Toronto. Following the ceremony, the reception was held in the church parlours. The bride's table was centred by a three-tier wedding cake decorated with tiny pink rosebuds. Silver candelabra with tall pink tapers and vases of pink and white tulips and sweet peas completed the decorations.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a gown of beige lace, trimmed with satin with matching picture hat, blue gloves and corsage of tinted blue carnations.

She was assisted in the receiving line by Mrs. W. T. Elliott, who was attired in willow green shantung, with yellow accessories and corsage of yellow roses, and Mrs. Harry Philp in a gown of navy nylon with satin stripes, matching hat, pink gloves and corsage of pink carnations.

Rev. A. Packman, acting as master of ceremonies, called on Mr. George Dyson to propose a toast to the bride, to which the groom responded. A toast to the bridesmaids was also proposed by the groom and Mr. R. Philp responded. Mr. Bruce Stapley, father of the bride, also spoke briefly.

Guests were present from Kingston, Toronto, Bowmanville, Picton, Campbellford and Belleville. For the wedding trip to the Southern States and Florida, the bride donned a brown English swede flannel mink trimmed suit and orange accessories. Her corsage was white orchids.

Active Support Needed

For the past few years the Stirling Chamber of Commerce has worked faithfully to live up to its responsibilities in the community. It has accomplished much, but it can do much more.

The membership has always been satisfactory, although it can always be improved. But more than mere membership is required.

The officers of the Chamber feel that while many members give their financial support, all too few take an active interest in its work. In short, the local Chamber needs the active support of all. It needs YOUR attendance at meetings, YOUR service on committees and YOUR talents. Let's get behind this worthy organization and do our bit for the good of the community. See you at St. John's Parish Hall at 6.15 next Wednesday.

The Bible Today

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

Burma is a land of many languages, over a hundred different forms of speech are used there. The British and Foreign Bible Society publishes the Bible or parts of it in 22 languages.

In newly independent Burma the Bible Society plays an important part in the work of the church. It supplies the Book on which the Christian faith is based, and enjoys full freedom in circulating the Bible throughout the country.

The Christian people of Burma are contributing over $5,500 a year towards the cost of the Society's work, about six times the average contribution before World War II. But the work is costly, and needs the help of Christian people in Canada. The Bible in Shan Man, for instance, costs about $3.50 a volume to produce in each case, and is sold at the subsidized price of $1.25 per copy.

Held Peters, the four-year-old daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Hubert J. Peters, was killed Friday when she was hit by a car as she played with her baby brother on the front lawn of her home.

Her brother, 14-month-old Ronald, was thrown from his carriage by the impact, but was not severely injured. Cpl. Stuart L. McLaren, driver of the car, was charged with drunk driving.

The 1957-58 hockey season wound up successfully recently with the conclusion of the annual North-South Juvenile series between Oshawa and Sault Ste. Marie. The series went the full five games with Oshawa taking the first two games by scores of 5-4 and 3-1, only to have Sault Ste. Marie come back strong to win the next two games 5-4 and 4-0. The rubber game was won by Oshawa in a hard fought game by a score of 2-2, thereby adding to the fame of the city of Oshawa. One of the highlights of the North-South series was the outstanding goaltending of the Oshawa goalkeeper Jim Topplag. Oshawa are now the proud holders of the Victoria Trophy.

A Traveller's Note Book

Man has always travelled because he always had a "Come from". Whether he will continue to travel depends upon whether he has a "Go to," which also will decide the future of the whole human race.

The greatest step forward was doubtless the invention of the ship. It has taken some 7,000 years to get to the "Queen Elizabeth" from the drifting log on which he found himself sitting after having fallen into the drink. We leave out "Noah's Ark" for the simple reason that such a construction could never have floated.

Travelling by sea has decided the fortunes of civilization and civilisations. Improvement in tools, changes in economic and social structures, and the eruption of new peoples have contributed towards converting the log into the modern ocean liner. No nation having a seaboard has failed to contribute to the evolution of sea travel though the Mediterranean and European peoples have been foremost.

It is more than likely that the Nile was the birthplace of shipping; for the Egyptians discovered the sail in the Bronze age. It was first used to steady the ship as she was carried by the current towards the rapids.

The past hundred years has seen the greatest stride forward in ships. From wood to iron, from sail to steam, from steam to turbine and diesel and today, every new ship that enters the water carries with it some new idea. Nuclear power is the next step, and nuclear power may be the last step.

Starve Yourself — to live. That seems to be the chief ingredient from America if you want to live. We eat less bread — the mark of poverty and we eat more fat — the mark of luxury, but has this not a great bearing on the increase in cases of coronary thrombosis? See what I mean? You must get back to the bread line.

Of course, a thoroughly cultured stomach despises bread and such simple things — it revolts at herings — it gets all upset when asked to harbour corn and other starch things. The upper class has, I imagine, suffered from deficiency of vitamin A because they have left vegetables and fruit to the middle class. Perhaps that is also responsible for the windiness of so many middle class writers. When the dietician's book is turned, the stomach — always a Romantic — dreams of inflation like the figure of a Buddha.

The American Stomach

There is much to be said for it. It can, as it were, stomach almost everything, but steak treats an American's stomach like a lavatory. Russian food turns it into a lethal gas chamber. It sticks to its nineteenth century passion for tinned stuffs and promises to get itself blown to the moon.

I can't myself believe that all this makes for health, so I want to advise. Forget it — start eating — eat everything that comes within reach. After all, the Scotch were great eaters; in the 18th century a law against over-eating was enforced in Scotland. English gluttony is historic, it was the results of gluts. We suffer from the same thing, so, get eating.

Purpose

The above commercial should sell our foodstuffs, the foodstuff is designed to give you indigestion, indigestion will cause you to buy our aspirins and soda mints. Good business.

PHAROS

Every man should do as many things as he can for himself, for the more we allow others to do for us the more helpless we become.

The Atlantic salmon returns from the sea nearly always to the river of its birth.

IS SOCIALISM DONE FOR?

The other night, when the political landslide took place, a friend turned to me and said, "Well . . . that's the end of socialism in Canada." I shook my head.

Socialism doesn't die because a few CCF members are tossed out. I wish it did spell the end of political socialism, because I frankly admit that in my opinion political socialism is immoral, even though some very fine persons have preached it.

Anything good about socialism can be practised any time, anywhere, by any of us. True believers in true socialism are very rare birds indeed — they are the persons who are ready at any time, to give of their substances to others less fortunate. No laws are needed for this sort of thing.

Political socialism, on the other hand, proposes to level us all to the same standards by law or force. It leaves no need or room for charity. It legislates our moral life in that area. It robs Peter to pay Paul and does it all in the name of morality.

To me it is a great sham and pretence, a horrible hoax, and I want no part of it. But I am not naive enough to think it is by any means dead.

As long as it may be preached by a politician that he will give to John out of the pocket of Joe, there'll be a certain number of Johns ready to vote for political socialism. As long as it can be made to sound like a political party dedicated to the poor and the unfortunate, there will be innocent, high-minded, well-meaning persons ready to work for the party.

But Canadian voters are about the best-informed voters in the world, relatively speaking. The fact that they've shown, so clearly, that they do not want political socialism is cause for celebration.

Not too much celebration, however, for both the Liberals and the Conservatives have been willing to use lures from the bait box of the socialists to hook voters. The urge for pie in the sky doesn't die in a hurry.

What Others Say!

WRAP THAT GARBAGE!

(Kingston Whig-Standard)
Carelessly wrapped garbage plus carelessly handled garbage can make more mess in a single morning than all the litter bugs in the city and surrounding countryside can make in a month.

And this applies equally to downtown garbage. There are certain merchants and business firms in this city who should be made to go out on the street and clean up their own mess.

OF ANOTHER RAILWAY STRIKE IN CANADA!

(Tweed News)

Everyone remembers the last one just over a year ago. Folks in the big cities may not have the memory so fresh in their minds, but in the towns and smaller communities of this country that lie along the main lines of the Canadian Pacific or along its many branch lines, the recollection is painfully clear.

Everyone suffered in the diesel firemen strike of January 1957, the railway, the firemen, the railway's customers, and the people in cities and towns which depend on the railway for daily supplies.

The firemen knew what the strike was about, or at least their Union Bosses in Montreal and Cleveland did. They were trying to keep jobs for firemen on diesel yard and freight engines, even though there was no firing to do.

The railway knew what it was all about! Canadian Pacific was trying to cut its gigantic wage bill by $11 millions a year, the money paid out to men whose jobs had disappeared in the march of progress, but were still being paid for doing nothing useful.

The customers and the public just didn't know! They suffered in ignorance!

There was talk about "safety factor" and a great many other confusing details, as there always is, when the losing side in a labour dispute tries to "muddy up" the view.

But Canadians generally did not have a clear picture of what it was all about.

Since that time there has been held one of the most extensive labour investigations in all Canadian history. The Kellock Royal Commission. This body was composed entirely of senior judges. It was beyond doubt, the fairest and most competent body that could be assembled to study a problem which was of importance to every Canadian.

The Commission was praised by members of all political parties in the House of Commons. It was praised by the big Canadian Labour Council. It was praised and thanked by the Counsel for the Firemen's Union as the long hearings came to a close.

In simple words that Commission said that Canadians need efficient, efficient, safe and economical railway transport, that firemen are not needed on yard and freight diesels, and that the plan to take care of its firemen as proposed by the Canadian Pacific, was even more generous than the Commission itself would have suggested. (Incidentally not one fireman on the roster at the time the dispute started, will suffer under the railway plan.)

All right then. What is the strike about this time?

The answer is simple and every Canadian has a chance to get to understand it before the big shots in Cleveland pull the stop-work whistle on our Canadian railroads.

As this plan of dropping diesel firemen goes gradually into effect, first on Canadian Pacific, then eventually on other lines in Canada and (here's the big factor) the American lines too, as it must surely come to pass, in the years of progress ahead, the Firemen's Union will simply shrivel up and disappear.

Diesel engines are progress in action. Progress cannot be stopped. But it can be slowed down by argument, threats, strikes, and the bullying tactics for which U.S. labour unions have become famous.

And every month that progress is delayed, union dues from these firemen continue to pour into the coffers of Mr. Gamble, in Montreal, and Mr. Gilbert in Cleveland.

Here is the reason why these Union leaders appear to be blind to simple facts. There is why Mr. Gilbert with an American twang, insults the Judiciary of Canada, by suggesting that a Canadian Royal Commission is as maudlin an affair, as some U.S. senate committees.

It is nothing to do with firemen (whose jobs are protected), nothing to do with "safety," nothing to do with reality.

It is a simple matter of survival, for a few more lingering months or years, for a union leadership that sees its "buggy whips" going out of fashion. They talk about another strike and hint that there will be enough floss to bring government intervention.

As the innocent but injured party in this dispute, the average Canadian citizen should keep one thought in mind. The dispute is not between Canadian Pacific and its firemen; that problem is settled "more than generously." It is between Canadians who pay for railway tickets and shipping freight on one side, and Mr. Gilbert, of Cleveland, and Mr. Gamble, of Montreal, on the other hand.

Now let us see how the public feels about it! And if there is to be Government intervention as the feather-bed experts fondly hope, let's see whether our Government is in favour of Tweed, Ont., or Cleveland, Ohio.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

PLANTS TO CHOOSE FOR A LOW HEDGE

For a low, decorative hedge the species that naturally does not grow to a great height should be chosen, rather than one that can be kept as a low hedge only by systematic and regular pruning. This is especially true if the hedge is intended to be a background or a dividing line in a garden where all other plants, including flowers, develop naturally. John Walker, of the Forest Nursery Station, says the informal, low hedge is also in keeping with modern trends in home styles where height is minimized. On the other hand, a low hedge cannot be counted on to be an effective windbreak or a screen to provide privacy in the home surroundings.

One important reason why hedge plants should be permitted to grow and develop without pruning is to permit them to display their natural beauty to the utmost throughout the year, in blossoms, fruits, foliage and bark. A desirable nutritive balance between crown and root becomes established, and the natural processes of flowering and bearing seeds can go on without interruption. It will also be obvious that the overall value and attractiveness of a low hedge will be greatly lessened if unsightly gaps exist in it. Even if there may be slight winter injury or tip killing occasionally, this should not interfere greatly with the natural effectiveness and attractiveness of the hedge. Special care in fertilizing and watering can eliminate the likelihood of this occurring. Where there is need of a formal hedge, systematic pruning must be practised throughout the growing season.

A few low hedges at the Forest Nursery Station, which have been allowed to develop without pruning since being planted were measured after 12 years of growth. For each, the first figure given is width, and the second is height, in feet: Pygmy Caragana 6 and 4.5, Prinsepia Cherry 7 and 6, Russian Almond 6 and 2.5, Siberian Currant 3 and 5.5.

Listed below, and described very briefly, are a number of species which make desirable dwarf hedges:

Japanese Barberry — Drooping clusters of blossoms and red fruits, fine foliage attractive in the fall.

Pygmy Caragana — Tolerant to drought, spiny, golden yellow blossoms, small leaves.

Russian Peashrub — (Caragana) x "Globe" — non-flowering, compact in habit, attractive foliage.

Dwarf Winged Euonymus — Leaves rosy scarlet in early fall, fruits are brightly coloured, broadly winged branches conspicuous in winter.

Bush Cinquefoil — Tolerant to drought, bright yellow flowers, long season of bloom.

Russian Almond — Tolerant to drought, flowers deep pink in bud, early flowering, spreads by root suckers.

Oriental Spirea — Flowers cream-white, very early flowering, hardy, plant in sun or partial shade.

Spirea X "Density" — Compact in habit, white blossoms, medium early flowering.

For a partially shaded location two dwarf evergreens might be considered: Common Juniper and Globosa (selection of Eastern Arborvitae).

Young plants or small divisions are recommended in the original planting for a low hedge. The plants should be severely pruned at planting time to cause branching near ground level, not the Evergreens. Later, dead or "straying" branches should be nipped back individually, so that no undue spread of branches may take place near the top which in turn might cause weakness and loss of foliage at ground level. Occasionally also it may be necessary to cut off near ground level the older stems that become weak and unhealthy. By pruning in the manner indicated an attractive low hedge can be maintained with little effort.

FREE POLIO VACCINE TO ALL PHYSICIANS

Salk polio vaccine is to be distributed free of charge to physicians throughout the Province, and anyone can have the free vaccine administered by his physician, Health Minister Mackinnon Phillips announced recently in the Legislature.

An appropriation of $250,000 is being made in the budget for the new fiscal year to cover the cost of this service.

The regular vaccination program for school students will be continued.

CARE IS NECESSARY IN USING HERBICIDES

It always pays to read the label carefully and this is especially true when using weed killers, advises the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Herbicides are necessary for the control of weeds, but unless properly handled and applied, can do a great deal of damage.

While most herbicides are harmless to humans and animals, they may cause allergies in some people, and because they may contain caustic or poisonous compounds should be kept well out of the reach of children.

Always use the amount of herbicide recommended. Many of these preparations have a critical range of effectiveness and if too little is used, weeds will not be killed; with the use of too much, the crop may be affected. The most common cause of damage is spray drift caused by wind carrying spray particles through the air and dropping them on desirable plants some distance from the spray area. This can be overcome by spraying in calm weather and by increasing the size of the spray droplet to reduce its travel.

Vapor drift can be avoided only by the correct formulations. Ordinary ester formulations are vaporized into gas which can be carried by the wind and do as much damage as spray drift. The use of amines and low volatile esters are recommended to combat this hazard.

Contamination of equipment is another cause of plant injury. Equipment used in applying herbicides should never be used for applying insecticides or fungicides as even minute quantities of herbicides left in the equipment can cause damage. Herbicides should not be kept near fertilizer, insecticides or fungicides for fear of contamination.

Herbicides of the 2,4-D type should not be used in the vicinity of green houses or cold frames, nor near such susceptible crops as grapes, tomatoes, turnips, cabbage, cauliflower, sugar beets, beans and tobacco. Spraying to control weeds near these crops should be restricted to contact herbicides such as Atlacide, Erccicide, Ammate or dinitros, etc.

Before using herbicides, read the directions carefully and follow them exactly. Circular No. 226 issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture deals with precautions against 2,4-D damage and may be obtained by any Ontario resident from offices of Agricultural Representatives or from the Information Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

PLANTING "POTATO EYES" FOUND PRACTICAL

For the gardener wishing to grow a few rows of potatoes for home use, or the commercial grower who desires to secure a start at moderate cost in new varieties such as the recently licensed scab or blight resistant types, the use of "potato eyes" is a practical method, reports the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. A change of seed may also be introduced by saving the resultant harvest, and the grower also has the advantage of economically comparing yield and quality of several varieties side by side, if desired.

In Western Canada distribution of seed potatoes by the use of "potato eyes" has been used for many years, and is very popular especially for mailing and for shipment to Northern areas where transportation charges are often to be considered when securing new seed. Although this system has only recently been introduced to Eastern Canada, mainly through mail order, it is being accepted with approval by many satisfied users. "Potato eyes" are usually packaged in cardboard boxes containing sufficient to plant thirty to fifty individual hills of each variety. Annual output now amounts to several billion "potato eyes" which are used each season for seed.

"Potato eyes" are supplied only by approved seed firms whose chief business is selling seed, either wholesale or retail, or a firm which maintains a separate seed division and is in a position to provide entirely separate storage, handling and sales of seed potatoes. In each case, the shipper certifies that the average weight of the "potato eyes" (when freshly cut) in the container to which the official label of the Department of Agriculture is attached, was not less than one-half ounce, and that not more than five per cent were less than three-quarters of an inch in depth. Further, that the "potato eyes" were cut from Foundation or Certified Seed Potatoes.

Planting usually varies over a two month period from early April until late May, depending upon the season and location.

SMALL MODERN TWO-CYCLE ENGINES

Small 2-cycle or 2-stroke engines have become increasingly popular during recent years. H. J. Kempt of the Experimental Farm, says their simple design affording a minimum of moving parts, favours lower cost. Their light weight makes them suitable for use with small equipment, such as lawnmowers, outboard motors, washing machines, irrigation pumps and portable chain saws.

In earlier years, 2-cycle engines were regarded as being somewhat temperamental in their performance. Modern engineering and construction methods have greatly improved their reliability. Care, however, is still important if their greater efficiency is to be maintained.

The 2-cycle engine delivers one power stroke for each complete revolution of the crankshaft while a 4-cycle engine delivers one power stroke for every two revolutions of the crankshaft. The 2-cycle engine is provided with portholes in the cylinder housing to admit a gas, oil and air mixture and to exhaust the burnt mixture by the suction and compression action of the piston. The 4-cycle engine is provided with mechanically operated valves and in conjunction with the piston movement, these are timed to admit gas and air mixture as well as to exhaust the burnt gas. The lubricating oil is held in the crankcase from where it is circulated through the bearings and other interior working surfaces.

The ignition system, carburetor and air cleaners of 2 and 4-cycle engines are similar and may be used on both types of engines. Flywheel magneto points should be set with a gap of .02 inches and the clearance between the flywheel magnets and the starter coil core should be .08 inches or less to ensure the strongest spark at the spark plug. The spark plug points should be gapped at .025 inches. The carburetor is generally of the simple float type. The float operates a needle valve to maintain the proper level of gasoline in the carburetor bowl. The float hinges and the float itself must be in good condition and operate freely.

GRADING RECORDS SHOW HOGS TOO FAT

Canadian hog producers marketed 2,243,000 grade B1 hogs through inspected packing plants in 1957. This was 41 percent of the total of 5,400,000 hogs marketed through these plants.

Had the B1 hogs graded as A's they would have brought $5,620,000 more to the farmers who raised them — $1.00 more per hog in government premiums and $1.50 more per hog as the average difference in price paid by the processors for Grade A over Grade B1 hogs.

The 2½ million hogs that sold as grade B1 instead of grade A did so for several reasons — too fat, too thin, off type, faulty shoulder, loins or hams, too rough, or showing color pigment in the skin, or a combination of two or more such faults.

Of all these reasons for the lower grade, however, "Too Fat" was by far the major fault. Out of the nearly 2½ million carcasses graded B1, over 54 percent, or about 1,219,000 carcasses did so only because they carried too much fat. They were within the weight limits required for grade A, were of the right type, sufficiently smooth, showed no pigment in the skin, and were good enough in the shoulder loin and ham to have graded as A's, just too much fat — fat that had to be trimmed off, where possible, and sold as lard at 15 to 20 cents a pound, instead of as bacon, ham or fresh pork at from 45 to 80 cents a pound.

The old argument, that marketing hogs too heavy to qualify for the top grade still provides a market for grain that cannot be sold for as much elsewhere, does not apply in this case since those B1 hogs were within or close to the A grade weights. It was the high proportion of fat to lean meat that largely determined the grade of the hogs, rather than weight of the carcasses.

The year's grading records show that over 70 percent of the hogs graded in Canada in 1957 were within the weight range of grade A (140 to 170 pounds). Less than 4 percent graded "heavy" and "extra heavy."

It is evident that hog producers generally are not feeding their hogs to over-weight just to find a market for grain. But it is equally evident that the breeding stock used, or the feeding methods followed, or a combination of the two, are not producing the type of market hog that has the proportion of lean meat to fat required to provide a large percentage of top or A grade carcasses, although they are marketed within the required weight range. More lean meaty hogs are required in the food market places if pork products are to retain consumer acceptance in the face of strong competition from beef and poultry products.

HOLSTEIN SIRES KNOWN TO BE CARRIERS OF THE RED FACTOR, BARRED FROM SERVICE BY LOCAL ASSOCIATION

Since the introduction of purebred Holstein cattle into this country, there have always been some blood lines which carry a hidden recessive characteristic which would occasionally rear its head in the form of a red and white Holstein calf which had as its parents, two registered black and white Holsteins.

Because this colour characteristic is what is known as a simple recessive gene, it only appears when two animals both carrying this recessive factor for red colour are mated together. Even then such a mating only results in a red and white calf twenty-five percent of the time.

During the past few years, the question of whether bulls which are known to carry this undesirable colour characteristic, should be used by artificial breeding associations, has been discussed.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Quinte District Cattle Breeding Association, a policy was passed, to not use Holstein sires who were known carriers of this red factor. This decision was reached because it was felt that the prime responsibility of a breeding association was to offer the services of bulls that are breed improver bulls, and at the same time do not possess undesirable breed characteristics.

The institution of this policy meant that two sires, Rosafe Domino and Glenafon Topnotch had to be disposed of immediately since they were known carriers of this red factor.

However, the association can now offer the service to any of the sires in their Holstein line and know that none of them is a known carrier of this factor.

This move should prove one that will have a beneficial effect over the years on the financial value of breeding Holstein cattle in this area.

The new President for the Association elected at the same meeting is Harold Dettlor, of Stirling, replacing retiring President, Stanley Macklin, of Cobourg. First Vice-President is Russell Osborne, of Newcastle; Second Vice-President, Aylmer Petherick, of Campbellford; and Executive members are Fred Hubbs, of Bloomfield, and Stanley Macklin, Cobourg.

The Holstein Sire Selection Committee will be Fred Hubbs, Bloomfield, chairman; Harold McCall, of Napanee; and Stanley Macklin, of Cobourg.

The following description of Stirling appeared in the 1860-61 volume of the Hastings County Directory:

The Village of Stirling was incorporated in 1868. It is situated in the Township of Rawdon, is surrounded by a good agricultural country, and being in a central position commands a large trade. Its buildings are of an excellent class, well finished, and composed of durable material. It has made rapid progress within the past few years, and from its natural position, and having an enterprising and wealthy people, is destined to become an important inland town. It is distant from Belleville 15 miles, Trenton 15 miles, Frankford 7 miles, Marmora 15 miles, Hastings (in the Township of Madoc) 17 miles, Campbellford 19 miles; population, about 1,000. There are several first-class dry good stores and grocery shops, and mechanics of various kinds. It has one of the finest flouring mills in the county — a substantial stone building, 4 stories high, and 50 by 72 feet — carried on by Mr. William Baker. There is also a Woolen Factory, a Sash and Blind Factory, Tanneries, Carriage, Cabinet and Cooper's shops. The factories are supplied with water from Rawdon Creek, a small tributary of the Trent. It has several churches, two well conducted common schools, and a Grammar School. The Village has a pleasant situation, and is remarkably healthy.

Deseronto Mayor Resigns, Challenges Four To Face Voters

Deseronto's outspoken mayor, Dr. D. C. McVicker, has resigned and challenged four other members of council to go before the people.

Dr. McVicker — recently defeated Liberal candidate in Hastings South — climaxed a stormy session of council with his resignation. The move was the latest in a period of growing rivalry between councillors and mayor.

Dr. McVicker says his challenge will be published in a local paper. It names councillors Alf Stubbs, Hubert Howard, Harry Sweetman and Albert Marks.

All four were returned by acclamation last municipal election.

Dr. McVicker was returned for a second term at that time.
